ringing indorsement of Governor Klin D. Roosevelt, of New York, a logical democratic candidate for presidency of the United States 32, and the prediction that a well-timed campaign would result in election, came Friday night from Isidor Straus, executive head of J. Macy & Company, New York.
Dinner tendered him by Major S. Cohen, democratic national committeeman, at the Piedmont Driving Club.

More than sixty of the leading democrats of the state, including Governor G. Hardman and Senator William J. Harris, were present. Major acted as toastmaster, and brief remarks were made by the honorable Governor Hardman; Senator
Harris; Mayor Pro Tem, G. Everett Rosen, Lawrence Camp, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, and Jack Straus, son of the New York merchant.

Indorsement of the widespread disaffection over the Hoover administration and the inadequacy of the protection tariff policies, Mr. Straus said that he had recently conducted a poll of democratic delegates and committees at the 1928 national convention, designed to indicate what candidate should be put into the field year, and that the poll gave Governor Roosevelt more than three times the number of votes received by executor Al Smith, the 1928 party candidate, who stood second.

THOROUGH PROBE OF ALLEN'S DEATH ADVOCATED BY KEY

Mayor Refers to Trusttees Letter Demanding Council Investigation; Public Hearing Urged.

Thorough probe of treatment according J. S. Allen, 67-year-old Atlanta who died following his discharge from Grady hospital, was advocated Friday by Mayor James L. Key. He referred to the Grady board of trustees demand by members of Allen's family that a council committee investigate the circumstances of the case to "prevent a repetition."

The mayor held that the matter should come under the jurisdiction of the board of trustees, but declared that a complete investigation into all the facts surrounding the episode should be made as a matter of public policy.

"I believe the matter should be gone into thoroughly, personally, and that the hearings should be open with witnesses from all sides being present," Mr. Key said in commenting on the communication which was forwarded to his office by Allen's widow.

Text of Mrs. Allen's letter to the mayor follows:
Honorable James L. Key, Mayor,
"City of Atlanta,"
"Atlanta, Ga."
"Dear Mr. Key:
We, the family of the late J. S. Allen, who was injured while carrying a passenger to the Grady hospital on Thursday night, April 9, and later died at the Crawford Long hospital, respectfully request that you appoint a committee to investigate the inefficient manner in which the case was handled from the time he was carried to Grady hospital until his death, to testify, if necessary when this matter is presented to the proper parties at your council meeting.

"For your information and guidance we are attaching the sworn statements of the writer, (Mrs.) J. S.
Allen and (Mrs.) J. L. Landers, widow and daughter of the deceased."

DR. FINLEY HEADS RELIGIOUS GROUP

Associate Editor of New York Times Succeeds
William Adams Brown.

Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times and former commissioner of education in the state of New York, Friday afternoon was elected president of the Religious Education Association, which held its twenty-eighth annual convention at the Central Congregational church here.

Nomination of Dr. Finley was made at a meeting of the board of directors early in the afternoon, and his selection sanctioned by a vote of the entire body in executive session a few minutes later. He was immediately notified by wire. It was stated that no other officers will be selected or nominated until Dr. Finley has been conferred with and his wishes learned.

Miss Miller, Donnell said, claims Whitehead became engaged to her but for the past week or more he has been eluding her.

They met, Donnell declared, in Havana last winter, and were together again during the past season at Havana and Key West.

Miss Miller, described as a "striking brunet," is visiting in the home of Mrs. Jeanette Gais, at Palm Beach. She could not be reached tonight for a statement.

Atlanta's 'Radio University' To Start Operations in May

The first full college course offered over the radio in the history of America will be broadcast by Oglet-horpe University in regular eight-hour day classes, beginning as soon as the 1931 commencement is concluded in May. Dr. Thorneill Jacobs, president of the university, said Friday night.

Announcement of the ambitious plan, upon the details of which Oglet-horpe officials have been working for almost a year, came following receipt of news from Washington that the radio commission on Friday granted the application of Station WRBI, at Yonkers, to move its transmitter and studio to Oglethorpe University. Work of removal will be begun immediately.
Dr. Jacobs said, and present plans call for the formal dedication of the new station, to be known as WWTI, in honor of John Thomas Lupton, of Chattanooga, prominent southern philanthropist, whose gift it is, on the night of May 23. Honor guests of the university at its annual commencement exercises, among whom probably will be Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, will deliver addresses.

"We are going to try to do something that we believe to be new in America," Dr. Jacobs stated. "Other colleges have got in several hours a week of teaching over various stations, but they have had to take such hours as they could get, and no attempt, so far as I know, has been made to present a complete college educational course. The University of Southern California has done the best work along this line to date, having offered as many as 15 courses for years, but the number and choice of hours has been necessarily limited, and their classes usually lasted from a quarter to a half hour, whereas ours will be for the full hour."

"Of course, until television is perfected, it will not be possible to conduct mathematical classes so effectively as in the personal contact method, but, in all other respects, the procedure will be on the same general lines as now obtain. Students will enroll, pay tuition, select their courses, take notes on lectures, submit these notes to professors for correction, and stand examinations just as they do now.
Personal conferences between the professor and his students will be held at regular intervals of a month or six weeks, and students, upon passing the work in a given course, will receive full college credit."

Several professors will devote their entire time to the radio work. Dr.
Jacobs said, while other members of the faculty will present a limited number of lectures.

"It will be the only station I know of," the Oglethorpe president continued, "which will be operated almost exclusively for educational purposes, and we believe that this work will be of great benefit to Atlanta.
Those who do not wish to receive college credit for their studies, will be,
of course, privileged to receive the instructions absolutely without charge in their homes. Boys who have to work can keep their jobs, and at the same time give themselves the education they need and desire. We are highly enthusiastic over the whole project."

The station will be a 100-watt affair, permission having been accorded by Washington to increase the power of the 20-watt Tifton station, and this will have a range of 15 to 25 miles.

SLICER CHAINGANG TERM COMMUTED

Governor Fixes Punishment of Ex-Atlanta
Banker at $250 Fine.

Governor Hardman Friday commuted the one-to-three-year sentence imposed on J. Sam Slicer, convicted in 1929 of embezzling $83,842.05, to a fine of $250. Slicer was scheduled to begin the sentence immediately following the supreme court's transmission of a remittitur to the clerk of Fulton superior court.

It was explained at the governor's office that executive action followed the examination of a letter sent by 10 members of the jury which sentenced Slicer to Judge Virlyn B.
Moore in which they stated that if they had not known Slicer would be treated as a miscreant, as their verdict recommended, they would have returned a different one.

The commutation of the prison sentence to a $250 fine, which was one of the alternative sentences suggested by the jury, followed a conference the executive held Thursday with William Slicer Howard, one of Slicer's attorneys, and Dr. Luther Rice Christian, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Official announcement in Barcelona that the Catalan republic will cal situation yesterday.

Other important developments were:
Alfonso and Victoria remained in seclusion in their exile hotel in Paris most of the day, postponing decision of future plans. The king visited friends during the evening but retired early.

Spain was reported tranquil, although earlier in the day noisy crowds had released all prisoners in the jails of Barcelona.

France and several smaller republics recognized the new government headed by Niceto Alcala Zamora in Madrid.

The provisional government announced it would recognize all debts of the monarchy. This resulted in strengthening of stocks and securities on the exchange.

systems in the jails.

Withdrawal of Troops
Starts in June.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—
Notice was given today by Secretary Stimson that the United States would not use its military force to protect American citizens in the interior of Nicaragua from insurgent activities.
The secretary of state recommended that all Americans in the interior who do not feel secure under protection of the Nicaraguan national guard go to coast towns or withdraw from the country.

"Those who remain," he added, "do so at their own risk and must not expect American forces to be sent inland to their aid."

This was explained by an authoritative statement that the United States did not intend that the lives of its citizens be jeopardized.

Fourth Cruiser Sails.
They would be given every protection, it was added, if they went to the coast towns where American ships now are located.

It was explained it was the policy of the government to leave the task of subduing the insurgents to Nicaraguan national guardsmen since they are native to the country and familiar with jungle trails.

A little later the navy department ordered the cruiser Rochester to proceed to Bluefields, Nicaragua, to join three American ships already in ports of that country as a protection to American citizens. The Rochester is due to arrive there Monday from the Canal Zone.

Instructions given Rear Admiral Arthur Smith, commander of the Rochester, included "the offering of asylum, the use of all force in protection of life and property if the places you are guarding are attacked, but denial to you or extending your operations into the interior and beyond the limits of the towns you are sent to guard."

Consistent With Precedent.
The other three vessels—the Memphis, Asheville and Sacramento—have received identical instructions.

The Stimson warning was regarded officially at the state department as in "consonance" with this country's long-established policy of protecting its citizens in foreign lands. It was warning was intended to assemble the Americans at ports where warships could protect and evacuate them if necessary.

In connection with the Stimson warning, dispatched through Minister Hanna at Managua, and Consul Rowe at Bluefields, it was recalled that in 1928 American forces were established "neutral zones" in certain parts of Nicaragua in which fighting between

ASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—
Daniel Bacon Stewart, of Americus, Ga., formerly American consul at Yokohama, Tokyo, and Barcelona, died Friday after a long illness at the Washington home of J. C. S. Pearce.

Mr. Stewart will leave with the Friday night for Americus for burial.

Coming to poor health, Mr. Stewart transferred from Barcelona, his foreign post, to Washington last month, for duty in the state department.

Mr. Stewart was one of the veterans of American foreign service, which entered in 1907. He held consular posts in many parts of the world, and he saw service in the navy war departments in Cuba and Hawaii. He was born in Butler,

New York Girl Sues Whitehead; Claims Winter Proposal Broken

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April

Donnell said his client had author-

Round Table Talk about Food

SAVING WITHOUT SCIMPING

BY EDITH M. SHAPCOTT.

Nutrition Consultant, The Home Making Center, New York.

Even such a luxury as cake lends itself to various economies. One of the simplest of these is garnishing a rich cake with a simple icing, and dressing up a plain cake with an elaborate filling and icing.

This rule is sound nutritionally, as well as pleasing to the budget, for a too heavy dessert should not be indulged in after a substantial meal.

The dessert should top off the menu and give a feeling of satisfaction, but the day of two or three heavy desserts as a finale for the meal has definitely passed. I am sure most of us are glad of that.

Just a word of warning here and now about icings. Host homemakers have favorite recipes for them that have been tried and found true. Since icings are so individual, find a recipe that is liked by you and your family . . . one that you can make well . . . and stick to it. The flavor may be varied and different colors used, but have basic consistency. Often a little richer icing is advisable if you mix up an inexpensive cake in a hurry. Don't scrimp too much on ingredients for the icing, for you know that the appearance of food has a great deal to do with the appetite. Make your cakes look nice.

Just a few reflections on cakemaking. Butter makes cakes with most delicate flavor. Always make sure that the shortening is fresh and sweet.

The finer sugar is, the less moisture it contains. The texture of a cake using confectioner's or powdered sugar is closed and more compact. If that texture is desired, use either of those sugars; but most cakes are made with granulated sugar. There is a great variety in the liquid point about sugar is that it must be measured accurately; too much of it makes tough, heavy cake with a crust that is cracked and sugary.

Fresh eggs make a cake more delicate. Cakes may be made with no eggs at all, but even the addition of just one egg improves the texture so much that the expenditure is justified. There is a great variety in the liquid used for cake . . . sweet or sour milk, cream, water, fruit juices and other liquids being available. But, again, measure liquids accurately; too much causes large holes, heavy streaks or soggyness, and too little moisture makes the cake dry and coarse grained.

I shall give you a recipe for a small angel cake that calls for only half the usual number of eggs. It is an economy to make use of the yolks left over, because only the whites are used in this type of cake. Custards, blanc mange and other desserts, as well as scrambled eggs and mayonnaise are all good ways in which to use the yolks. Here is the recipe:

4 egg whites
1-2 teaspoons cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1-3 cups flour
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat whites of eggs until frothy. Add cream of tartar, and continue beating until eggs are stiff, but not dry. Fold in sugar gradually. Sift flour and salt together four times, and carefully fold into white of egg mixture. Add vanilla. Bake in an ungreased tube pan in a slow oven (300 degrees), increasing the heat after 20 minutes to moderate (350 degrees). Bake 45 minutes. Invert pan on wire cake rack and let stand until cool.

This cake may be served without icing, or with a simple icing of water, powdered sugar and flavoring. While we're talking about icings . . . a boiled icing calling for the white of only one egg is ideal. Where egg whites are used in the icing, be sure to use the yolks in the cake, excepting, of course, an angel cake or in the filling.

FOODS THAT ARE FRIENDLY TO BEAUTY

BY KATHLEEN MARY QUINLAN.

Since it is incontestable that health and beauty go hand in hand, the food most friendly to beauty are naturally those which promote health.

A few years ago an eminent American set out in the interest of science to visit a tribe of centenarians who lived in the fastnesses of Asia. He was chiefly interested in discovering the secret of their long life, since there was no apparent reason why their general lives were different from that of neighboring tribes subject to the ordinary limitations in their span of life. He brought back the curious information that the centenarians subsisted chiefly on milk.

Now, I am not going to advocate that we forthwith banish all other foods from our tables and adopt exclusively a diet of milk. But I do contend that we should follow the "pint a day" practice recommended by dietitians. We also live in a high pressure era, in conditions which often are over-stimulating, are very susceptible to internal derangements due to overworking the digestive tract.

When we are overworked, overstrained, over-excited, it is a great mistake to eat as heavily as usual, for at such times food cannot be properly digested. On these days, therefore, I suggest a simple milk diet. The system and the complexion will be all the better for it, and, at the same time, we will not be cheated of any of the necessary nourishment. Milk offers in itself the average modern whose palate has been ruined by association with a variety of foods once considered as luxuries and accessible only on rare occasions.

But milk can be disguised in a dozen delectable ways. Many persons enjoy it best with sliced or crushed fruit—peaches or berries, for example, sweetened, if necessary. Others like their milk, delicately flavored and tinted with a little chocolate malt or a bit of strawberry juice—just enough to make it dainty and tempting. The menus offered by reliable dietitians will suggest a great many other ways in which to disguise milk, and I am sure that those who try the "Milk Day a Week" will have cause to congratulate themselves upon the greater fineness and freshness of the complexion that follows this easy method of dieting.

I do not need to say, do I, that those under a doctor's care, and persons having certain tendencies to guard against the matter of individual reactions to food, should consult their physicians before choosing to follow the general example.

FRANCE TO PUSH EUROPEAN UNION

PARIS, April 15.—(AP)—An active policy toward establishing a European economic union was decided upon today at a meeting of government officials, called by Premier Pierre Laval. It was announced that the meeting was called to consider the situation created by the proposed Austro-German customs treaty and to determine the best means of bringing about a European union. In addition to M. Laval those at the meeting included Aristide Briand, foreign minister, Andre Tardieu, the ministers of finance, agriculture and commerce and several representatives of the senate and house of deputies.

Briand, who developed the idea of an economic United States of Europe, was given united support in opposing the Geneva the Austro-German treaty as being against the general interest of Europe.

GERMANY SENTENCES EDITOR FOR LIBEL

KREFELD, Germany, April 15.—(AP)—Dr. Dietrich, national socialist leader, and a newspaper editor named Thomassen were sentenced to four months' imprisonment each today for wrongfully alleging that the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, received 1,000,000 marks (about $250,000) for "putting across" the Young plan.

The suit was pressed by Stresemann's widow on the basis of a law against defamation of the dead. She requested that her husband's name be cleared of the graft charges made during the last year's election campaign.

AT THE CHILDREN'S TABLE

BY MARY HOPE NORRIS.

Founder Mothers' Radio Round-Table Club.

While our tables groan not so heavily with rich foods as in the old days, nevertheless we eat far too much of them for our mode of living, and this habit is reflected in the food that is given to the children.

Too often the dessert is too rich or too heavy for the sake of digestion, and for unfortunately the average person bases his choice of dessert upon taste rather than rules of health . . . not realizing that in the group of light desserts one may run the whole gamut of taste and remain well within dietary requirements.

At the other extreme we find the mother of young children who falls into the habit of serving monotonous desserts. Perhaps she thinks that she is greatly handicapped in her selection. This is an error that it is easy to fall into. It is all too common a fault for mothers of runabout children to get into the routine of custards and stewed fruits for desserts.

But it is not necessary if one knows how to dress up simple dishes. And nowadays authorities give us an amazingly wide range of choice for even the two-year-old. Only the other day the United States government issued this message to mothers:

"If meals are planned carefully and prepared properly, the two-year-old child can eat almost anything that the rest of the family does. Foods which are too rich, highly seasoned, or fried should be avoided in the family meals if the children also eat at the table."

Take the question of bananas, for example: Scientists everywhere are busy telling mothers that if they are fully ripe, bananas can safely be added to the diet of the child at two years of age. And who does not like the delectable taste of bananas? Today I am going to give you a splendid recipe for a gelatin and banana dessert. It is a dish that is sure to call for an encore from Junior right on up to grandpa.

Banana Whip.
2 tablespoons plain gelatin
1-2 cup cold water
2 cups hot milk
3 fully ripe bananas put through sieve
Strained juice of one lemon
1 cup sugar
2 egg whites
Soak gelatin in cold water, add the milk. When dissolved add the strained banana juice, sugar and sieved bananas. Chill. When the mixture begins to thicken, beat until frothy, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill and serve as desired.

Cook books are filled with fascinating recipes for light desserts using eggs, milk, tapioca and gelatin as a foundation. The alert housewife can always keep these staples on hand, and with the least possible labor and expenditure of time she can prepare a beautiful light dessert that gives pleasure to the eyes as well as the palate.

and a half pound butter beaten to a cream. Sweeten to taste with powdered loaf sugar and bake in patty pans lined with rich puff paste.

An equally antique recipe is the following:

Apple Meringue in Rice Border.
Core and pare six sweet apples and sprinkle with orange or lemon juice. Make a syrup by cooking together for eight minutes two cups of sugar and two cups of water. Into the syrup drop the apples and cook until tender, but not broken. Drain, fill the cavities with quince jelly and cover each with meringue. Dredge with sugar, and brown delicately in the oven. Chill. Unmold boiled rice which has been packed in a border mold. Arrange apples in center; reduce syrup by slow cooking until slightly thickened; cool and pour around the base of the border.

Lamb seems to be the meat of the motor magnates . . . for Harvey Firestone confesses an inordinate fondness for it, too. He likes best as supreme d'agouty berry . . . merely roasted lamb. Almost any kind of melon is Mr. Firestone's favorite fruit, and figs served with ice cream also delight him.

Mary Garden's taste is as whimsical and as intriguing as is the great opera star herself. First it is for Ris de Veau, which in our language means sweetbreads. Then—please note—comes old-fashioned bread and butter pudding . . . and quince jelly.

Emile de Gogorza, the grand opening singer and husband of Emma Emmes, prefers Poussin en casserole (chicken en casserole) . . . while Cole Porter who wrote the music for "Fifty Million Frenchmen" also likes chicken. His pet dish being Hachis de colaille Parmentier, or hash of chicken with mashed potatoes.

Culinary Oddities.
BY ROSE E. BRUNNER.
Here are two antique recipes that are odd enough and good enough to intrigue us.

Apple Cheesecakes.
This recipe was Lord Bacon's favorite dessert in the year of 1629. Pare and core 12 apples and boil them as for apple sauce, adding only a little water. Mash very smooth and stir in the juice of two lemons and the grated peel, then five egg yolks

PLEASING THE MAN

BY CHLOE JAMISON.

Men have a secret fondness for oriental foods. Surprise and please the man at your house by growing your own chop suey and chow mein products.

Even if you have only a tiny kitchen.

enette you can have a chop suey garden . . . which is to say, you can grow bean sprouts, one of the important elements used in Chinese recipes. In Oriental cookery these tender shoots are an old story, but in our own land little use has been made of them, although the federal bureau personally tells us they contain important vitamins and mineral elements.

One way to sprout beans is as follows: Wet some cheesecloth, sprinkle it with dried beans; roll cloth, with the beans in it, around stick about a foot long and place end of the roll in water. Occasionally the whole roll should be drenched. The beans are ready to use when the sprouts are about an inch long.

On Knowing Your Viduals

ALTHOUGH we've been in the food business for nearly three-quarters of a century, we've never seen so many people worked up over viduals as they are right now.

Truly, it seems as if every newspaper, magazine, and radio station in the country is being conducted for the sole purpose of teaching the American woman how to buy wisely, cook wisely, and eat wisely. Bureaus and Committees by the hundred vie with one another to show housewives how to get their money's worth from the grocer and the butcher.

All of which is highly satisfactory, so far as we are concerned. The more women know about food, and the shrewder buyers they are, the more customers A & P will have.

For A & P is run for women who are keen judges of food, who know food values when they see them. A & P stores are for women who make a business of running their households well at low expense—and are proud of it.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF FAMOUS WOMEN

HELEN WESTLEY.

Celebrities of the stage are so closely connected with the glamour, the romance and life of the theater, that it is difficult for us to conceive of them as having an interest in household affairs . . . least of all, perhaps, in cooking.

And yet the great majority of the well-known actresses have established the prospect of a brand-new dish for her table can elicit a thrill quite comparable to that which she feels for a new role at the theater.

On the stage since she was a tiny girl of ten; moving spirit in the Guild since that difficult time when its group of artists was known as the Washington Square Players. Miss Westley still finds time to have favorite recipes . . . and to know how best to prepare them.

For her favorite spring salad recipe she submits the following . . . a mighty good combination for the dinner at which the spring leg of lamb presides, or as the center of interest for luncheon.

Spring Salad.

2 cups of raw minced carrots

1 cup of minced raisins

1-2 cup of chopped American walnuts

1 cup of French dressing

1 head of lettuce

Ingredients for "French Dressing"

1-4 teaspoon powdered mustard

1-4 teaspoon pepper and salt

3-4 cup of olive oil

1-4 cup of tarragon vinegar

Mix together until smooth, then chill it.

From a head of chilled lettuce, cut in 1-4-inch slices across. Arrange on plates. Put carrots and raisins, mixed thoroughly, on the lettuce leaves. Sprinkle the chopped walnuts on top. Over all pour salad dressing. Serve with toast.

THE CHEF SUGGESTS . . .

BY JOSEPH BOGGIO, Hotel Plaza, New York.

different from the usual recipe is this one:

Chicken Salad à la Russe.

In a bowl put some collops (small pieces) of boiled fowl, which has been carefully cleared of all skin. Season with a little salt and a few drops of vinegar; garnish around with some crisp lettuce. Coat the chicken with Russian dressing.

This is my recipe for the dressing:

Russian Dressing.

One cup mayonnaise; 1-2 cup chili sauce; 1 teaspoon horseradish; 1 teaspoon chopped olives; 1 chopped pimiento; leaves of 1-2 head of water-cress, chopped; 1-2 small cucumber cut into small dice and pressed.

Mix all together, season to taste. A dash of Tabasco sauce will spice it, and caviar adds another piquant note.

The third recipe for today is not startling, but contains a hint which should be known by all who appreciate the lightness of well made soufflé potatoes. One operation alone is responsible for the puffiness.

You should trim the potatoes and carefully cut them into slices an eighth of an inch thick. Wash them in cold water, dry them and put them in moderately hot fat. As soon as the potatoes are in, gradually heat the fat until they are cooked. (This they are known to be when they rise to the surface of the frying fat.) Drain them in the frying basket and at once immerse them in fresh and hotter fat. It is the final immersion which effects the puffiness resulting from the sudden contact with intense heat. Let the potatoes dry, drain on a piece of linen, salt them and serve.

CHATS WITH A POPULAR HOSTESS

BY MRS. OLIVER HARRIMAN, Chairman Exposition of Women, Arts and Industries.

Remembering, as I do, society's rigid observance of the conventional customs some 15 or 20 years ago, it is amazing to note the passing of so much that was once called "Good For."

In the old days, for example, it wasn't possible to make so small a social gesture as a call without leaving cards. Today the only section of the country in which that formality is observed is in the small communities.

In the larger cities everyone is so busy and so hurried that they do not begin to be as serious about the amenities as they once were. All types of entertainment are done on a much more informal scale than heretofore. In fact, we are now almost without a "Four Hundred." Formerly that term was used to signify about four hundred of the older families, all of whom knew each other socially. Now the social circle in metropolitan areas has widened so tremendously that there could not possibly be the strict observance of social precedence that held forth years ago. In fact, it was in New York society that the old forms . . . gave way. The city grew so rapidly and became so cosmopolitan that it was impossible to maintain the small group who were pioneers in the life of the city and in its social structure.

In addition to these natural changes countless interesting activities that the woman of a few years ago did not enjoy have come to the modern society woman. Today her life is filled with charities and causes that do away with the leisure she possessed during the old days when there were not so many things to which she felt she should give her time. In such a full, busy life it is utterly out of the question to maintain all of the staid, conventional customs that belonged to an era so leisurely and so precise that there was scant excuse for the slightest deviation from good form.

This attitude holds good for practically all America, except Newport. The most formal place still left in the country is Newport, where most of the great old houses still conduct themselves with a sense of formality that has long been dispelled from society in large cities throughout the land. I know that the woman who remembers with pleasure the dignities of the old regime it must be delightful to be enveloped in the punctilious atmosphere of Newport. I myself enjoy it hugely . . . but I find it equally as refreshing—and a bit more stimulating perhaps—to have a part in the less exacting order of things as we find them in the metropolitan society of today.

The life of the modern society woman is just as full of activity as that of any other well-organized group of persons. She feels a great sense of respectability toward her fellow men and gives as freely of her time and her money as possible. Going hastily from one meeting to another, having her day organized as carefully as that of any other busy hus-always easy to find them in the market, but Mrs. Spratt has found a man who sells hothouse lettuce who always gets them for her.

Have lettuce water boiling hard; lay the lettuce in carefully, so that they will not open, and boil for 10 minutes. Drain well, lay on a soft cloth and press out all the water you can. Melt the butter in a saucepan, lay in the heads, arranged again so that they will not spread; cover and cook slowly for one hour. Before serving, sprinkle with pepper and lemon juice.

Needless to say the menu outlined is a hearty and delicious combination of foods that does not even remotely suggest a double diet for the fat and the lean, although it is well within the requirements and inhibitions for both types.

WHAT KEEPS THEM PHYSICALLY FIT?

BY ZELDA RAEBURN, Johnny Farrell Diets to Increase Weight.

"Do you ever have any too-thin ones?" I asked in pursuing my policy of ferreting out the secret of what keeps successful sportsmen in the best of health.

Thus far every champion under discussion had needed trimming down, instead of padding out . . . until that question brought out Johnny Farrell, the lean spring-beanling of the golf course who in spite of excellent playing needed a better physical make-up to fit him actually to win.

"Of course I get them too thin," Arthur McGovern, Farrell's physical trainer, said. "I had to see that seventeen much-needed pounds were added to Johnny Farrell before he was in condition for his Chicago tournament. And it was a most important factor in helping him to win."

"So long as Farrell was underweight and suffering from indigestion, he habitually fagged out in the last stretch and finished a fatigued and beaten man. I had to overcome both physical defects. No man can win consistently in sports or in anything else if he's below par physically."

How Farrell picked up his seventeen extra pounds and acquired sufficient energy to finish without fatigue was a simple matter of diet rather than exercise, Mr. McGovern said. Plenty of good rich milk, ample green food and fruits, eggs and cream in proper proportion, a generous allowance of sugar for energy . . . these were chief factors stressed in the diet for Johnny Farrell during his training days, when his menus ran something like this:

Breakfast.

Fresh fruit (except berries)

Hot cooked cereal with cream and 3 or 4 spoonfuls of sugar.

A poached or boiled egg

Buttered whole wheat toast

Hot Milk

Luncheon.

Buttered Wild Rice Vegetable Salad

Baked Apple with Cream

Cookies

Hot Milk or Cocoa

Dinner.

A Milk Soup

3 ounces broiled chops or chicken

Baked Noodles Creamed Spinach

Buttered Beets

Lettuce with Olive Oil Dressing

Graham Pudding with Raisins and Cream

"In the breakfast menu I allowed Johnny Farrell a liberal amount of sugar on his cereal to give him increased weight and energy without unduly taxing the digestion by more and heavier food," Mr. McGovern explained. "The milk, too, was great to increase weight and energy."

"I am glad to see that today, due no doubt to the changing fashions, foolish dieting by women is on the decline," Mr. McGovern said. "Let them eat moderately of well balanced foods and they will not need to diet," he continued. "If underweight, try a general diet such as I have outlined. If after a fair trial it is not effective, then see a good physician who will prescribe a special diet that is suited to individual needs."

ments which they manage as other housekeepers do theirs; they have their favorite dishes and take delight in their preparation.

Those who find the daily routine of three-meals-a-day dull and monotonous, please take notice . . . So busy a person as Helen Westley, director of the Theater Guild and leading lady in "Green Grow the Lilacs," is devoted to her home and is proud that the recipe runs after this fashion:

Virginia Ham Plaza Style.

After having soaked the ham in cold water for 24 hours, brush it well and remove to another pot; cover with cider and allow the ham to soak for another 24 hours. Then add two stalks of celery, two carrots, two onions, and a handful of new hay; also enough water to cover.

Allow the ham to cook for three and a half hours or until the pelvic bone can be easily removed. Let cool in its cooking liquor; remove the ham, clear it of superfluous fat and lay it in a braising pan. Rub into the fat some brown sugar; over this pour some honey and put in the oven to brown.

A chicken salad that also is very different from the usual recipe is this one:

Prices Decline 17½% In Four Months

According to statistics compiled by the Home-Making Center, comparative prices for November, 1930, and March, 1931, show a weekly saving of 35 per cent on fruit; 24 per cent on vegetables; 15 per cent on meat; 11 per cent on dairy products . . . or a decline of 17 1-2 per cent in the cost of food during the last four months.

Or, putting it in dollars and cents. . . In November a minimum food budget for four was fixed by the center at a little less than $13 a week. Today the same purchases may be made at a weekly expenditure of only $10.64.

SNELL'S SPEECH SEEN AS DEMOCRATIC AID

Hull Says "Confession" Proves That High Tariff Is Destructive.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—The statement of Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, in New York last night that tariff protection has "gone the limit" was hailed by democrats today as an admission of their charges that the Hawley-Smoot act contributed to the economic depression.

Senator Hull, of Tennessee, in a statement through the democratic national committee said "when a rabid high tariff standstill such as Representative Snell confesses that high tariff protection has 'gone the limit' is proof positive that typical sky-high republican tariff policies have reacted to a most damaging and destructive extent."

"The democratic party, in my opinion," he added, "should view the Snell confession as a sharp reminder to democrats everywhere that the democratic party could scarcely serve the general public more wisely and effectively than by waging with renewed vigor a nationwide movement for tariff readjustment downward and for a more liberal commercial policy that would, as in the past, fundamentally differentiate in both theory and practice the two political parties."

Representative Ayers, democrat, Kansas, said he was "glad to hear such a statement coming from a prospective speaker of the house."

"Mr. Snell has evidently been hearing from his constituents at home," he added.

WISCONSIN ASKS DRY REFERENDUM

MADISON, Wis., April 17.—(AP)—The Wisconsin senate today concurred in a resolution recently adopted by the lower house petitioning congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of amending or repealing the 18th amendment to the federal constitution.

Religious Leaders and Association's New Head

Prominent figures attending the twenty-eighth annual national convention of the Religious Education Association, being held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Central Congregational church. They are, from left to right: Father R. A. McGowan, assistant director, department of social action, National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.; Rabbi Edward L. Israel, chairman of the commission on social justice of the Central Conference American Rabbis and rabbi of Har Sinai Congregation, Baltimore; and Dr. Charles A. Ellwood, professor of sociology, Duke University, author of a number of books on sociology and kindred subjects. The three men, representing the three great religious philosophies, spoke on the same program Friday morning. All three are close friends. Below is John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, who was elected president Friday.

New York, editor of Charities Review, president of Knox College, editor of Harper's Weekly, professor of politics at Princeton, commissioner of education of the state of New York and president of New York University from 1913 to 1921, president of the New York Association for the Blind, trustee of the New York public library, member of the American army educational committee in France in 1918, head of the American Red Cross in Palestine, and associate editor of the New York Times since 1921. He also has been decorated by the Japanese, French, Italian, Serbian, Polish, Finnish, Norwegian, Danish, Lithuanian and Greek governments for religious, educational, and relief services. He is author of seven books.

During the morning session, the church's attitude on capitalism and industry was described in critical studies by representatives of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths. Dr. Charles A. Ellwood, professor of sociology at Duke University, in explaining the relationship of the Protestant philosophy to industry, declared that "the whole spirit of our business and financial world must be changed."

Modern capitalism, he said, "breeds misunderstanding, hatred and even violence. Individualism threatens us with moral and social anarchy." He scored speculation and exploitation and declared that it is time for "Protestantism to develop a new philosophy to deal with these evils which are partly due to its own mistakes." The economic surplus of business and industry should be devoted to the program of social welfare in every community, he asserted.

This speech, made at the morning session, drew fire in one of two discussion group sessions Friday afternoon, when Professor Henry Ward, speaking before the churchmen and laymen group, challenged purported statements of Dr. Ellwood. He asserted that Protestantism is not entirely responsible for the capitalistic system of today, and that much culture comes from the minority groups.

Rabbi Edward L. Israel, of Baltimore, chairman of the commission on social justice of the central conference of rabbis, told the association Friday morning that Jewish ethical philosophy "abominates charity and desires justice."

"The practice of present-day industry," he said, "to exploit workers, throw them out of employment, and then attempt to give them charity instead of wages is contrary to every Jewish ethical sense."

Middle Ground Favored.

The Catholic church, the Rev. Father R. A. McGowan, of Washington, told the association, favors a middle ground between the communistic subversion of the individual in society and the complete individualism that is the basis of through-going capitalism. Father McGowan, assistant director of the department of social action of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, added that the guild cities of the middle ages came measurably close to achieving realization of the economic philosophy of the Catholic church.

At a sectional meeting for the discussion of the relation between religion and economics, held during the afternoon, the Rev. D. P. McGee, local minister, declared that the religious forces today are willing to admit that something must be done, while Father McGowan explained in detail methods that the Catholic group he represents are employing with respect to needed economic adjustments. The sessions ended with a period of questions and answers. The discussion groups to meet during the afternoon were organized lay and church group, educational institutions group and industrial group.

The three-day convention was brought to a close Friday night with the fourth general session held at the church with J. M. Artman, general secretary of the association, acting as chairman.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 17.—(AP)—A bill to force the teaching of state tax laws to Florida high school children was killed in a legislative committee today.

NYE POSTPONES CANNON INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—Chairman Nye, of the senate campaign funds committee, today postponed until next week a meeting to decide whether further hearings will be held in the investigation of an $800,000 campaign expenditure in 1928 by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church south. The North Dakotan was informed Senator Wagner, of New York, a democratic member, would not be here until next week. Senator Dale, republican, Vermont, is the only other member here of the committee of five.

BAKER WILL ACCEPT, NOT SEEK, NOMINATION

War Secretary for Wilson Will Do Nothing To Further Cause.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 17.—(AP)—A statement setting out the attitude of Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, former secretary of war, toward talk of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for presidency was issued today by W. B. Gonswer, Cuyahoga county democratic leader, after a conference with Baker.

The statement indicated that:

1. Baker will not do anything to obtain the nomination.

2. He will not refuse it should it come to him if the democratic national convention is unable to agree on any of the active candidates.

3. During the scramble for delegates to the national convention Baker will not use his influence in behalf of any particular candidate.

The statement said:

"The many kind things said about Newton D. Baker as a possible democratic candidate for presidency are certainly gratifying to Mr. Baker's friends and naturally to him. In my conversations with Mr. Baker, he has shown very great interest in the party's platform, but no interest in possible candidacies, and I do not believe he has changed his former judgment on the subject. This has always been that he had no desire for further political preferment of any kind."

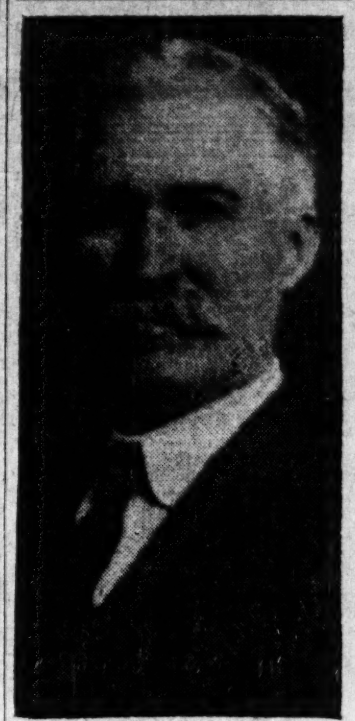

CERMAK ADVISES WET CANDIDATE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 17.—(AP)—Anton J. Cermak, new Chicago mayor, said in an address before the Miami Beach Lions Club today that in his opinion the success of the democratic party nationally depended upon the nomination of a wet presidential candidate and the insertion of a provision for state rights in its platform.

Campbell Soup King's Estate Shown as $114,850,000 by Will MOUNT HOLLEY, N. J., April 17.—(AP)—The personal estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, who was head of the Campbell Soup Company, is appraised at $114,850,000, in an inventory filed here today with Surrogate M. E. Matlack, of Burlington county. The largest item in the 10-page appraisal was Dr. Dorrance's interest in the soup company, valued at $79,033,960. Deposits in eight banks in New York, Philadelphia, Camden and Boston totaled $4,032,430.

The total amount of inheritance taxes payable on the estate has been estimated at approximately $21,500,000, of which about $12,000,000 will go to New Jersey and the remainder to the federal government, and possibly some to the state of Pennsylvania.

The inventory includes Liberty bonds amounting to $9,853,267; $512,500 in Tennessee state bonds; Life insurance payable to the estate is listed at $160,000.

Dr. Dorrance's will named his brothers, George Morris Dorrance, Arthur C. Dorrance, with the wife, Mrs. Ethel M. Dorrance, as trustees of the estate with provision that one son, John T. Dorrance, Jr., also be a trustee when he reaches age of 25.

Under the will, the widow is to receive one-fourth of the net income of the estate in monthly installments of $20,000 a month and daughters $10,000 each a month. The remainder of the income is to go to making up the deficiency caused by payment of state and federal taxes. If this deficiency is made up by 1948 the estate is to be divided. It is not made up in 16 years the division is to be made in 1948.

Dr. Dorrance began at a salary of $7,500 per week. He attributed his success to a firm belief in advertising.

GIRL SUES COLLEGE FOR FLUNKING HER

HAMILTON, Ohio, April 17.—(UP)—Miss Jean West, a freshman in Miami University, filed an injunction suit in common pleas court today seeking to prevent the school from expelling her because of poor scholastic standing.

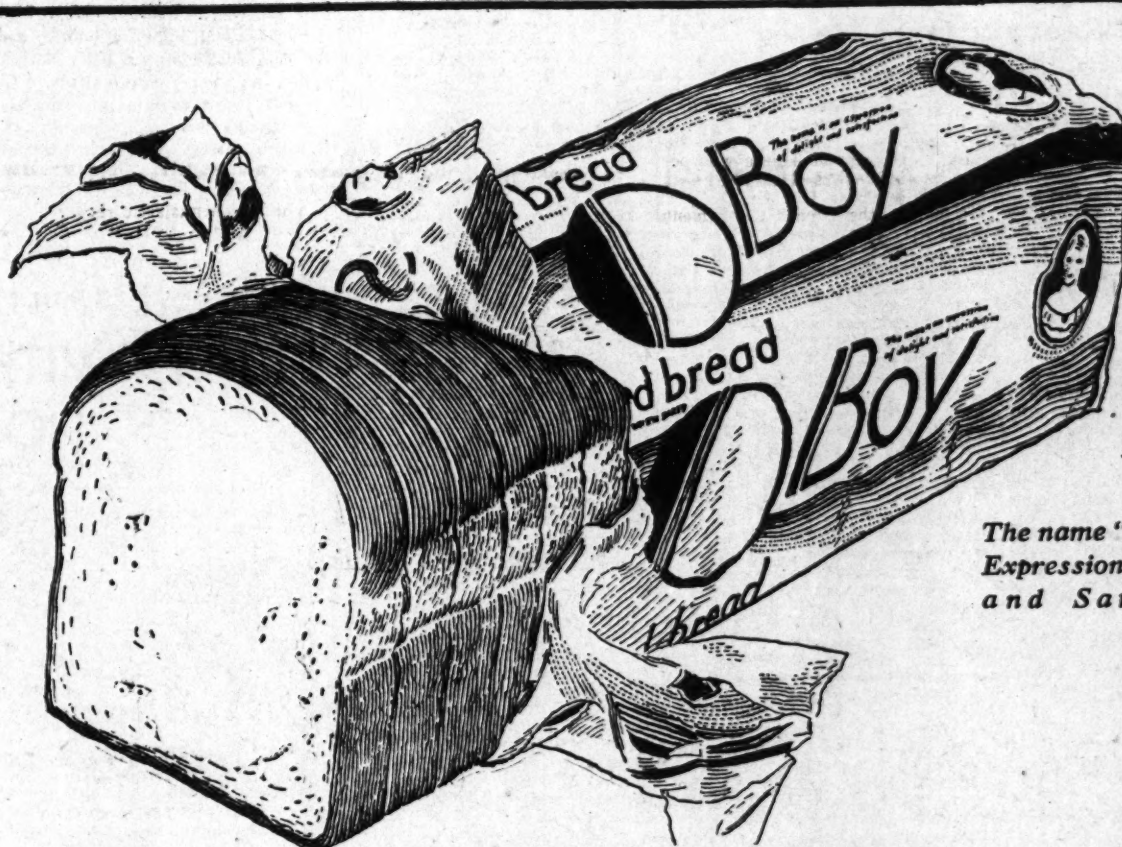

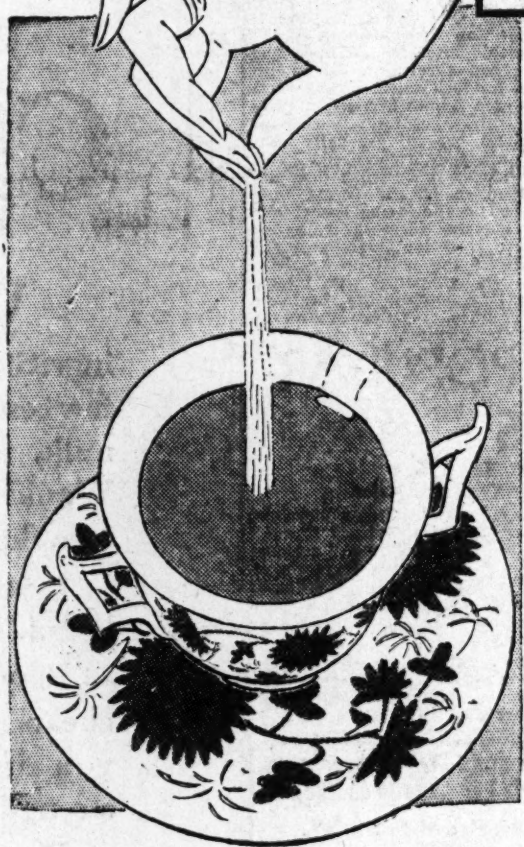

"We realize the novelty of the character of this action," said William West, Jean's father, "but we feel it is time someone came forward to challenge the theory that the right to attend our public state colleges is such an exclusive privilege."

"My daughter qualified to enter Miami Normal school, but failed in one subject in the first semester. Nevertheless, she was admitted to the second semester and she paid her tuition and dormitory fees in advance. We believe it to be both unreasonable and unlawful that she should not be able to demonstrate her ability to the end of the semester."

President A. H. Upham, of the university, said:

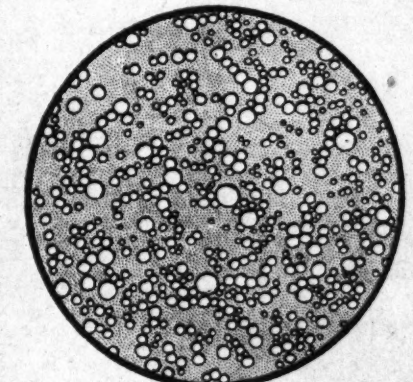

"Should this injunction be sustained disciplinary rules of our state universities, all over the country will be junked."

SKIMMED DRY MILK IN CREAM-OF-TOMATO SOUP
★ ★ ★
Why be satisfied with it in BREAD?

The name "Oboy" Is an Expression of Delight and Satisfaction

DON'T think all breads are alike . . . or that "Made with Milk" on the advertising may of course, but then many bakers advertise "Made with Milk" and make their bread with skimmed dry milk. The fact that you pay 10c for a loaf is often not the protection you believe it to be, for many large selling 10c brands are also made with skimmed dry milk. But there's one way to be sure about the kind of milk that's in the bread you buy. That way is to order Oboy Bread. Then you'll always know you are getting bread that's made with pure, wholesome, concentrated milk. The kind of milk that makes little folks grow big. The kind that gives big folks pep and vigor. That does contain the milk-fat, and other potent vital nourishing health properties found in the milk that's delivered on your door-step every morning. It's the milk-fat in this good, rich milk that gives Oboy Bread its distinctive, full-bodied flavor. That packs its tender texture with nutriment. That makes its crust bake to golden-brown perfection. You don't sprinkle skimmed dry milk in cream-of-tomato soup. Why buy it in bread? Give the children good, milk-rich Oboy Bread. The large, full-weight loaf that's the biggest food-value your grocer sells!

How Milk Gives Flavor to Bread

In the illustration above you see the tiny globules of milk-fat in pure, wholesome, concentrated milk as they appear under the microscope. This is the milk used in Oboy Bread. During the baking process, the heat causes these tiny globules to break down or burst and their rich palatable flavor is released just where it belongs. Evenly distributed over the tender membrane walls of the millions of cells. It is these little globules of milk-fat that give flavor and taste, tender texture, and golden-brown crust to the Oboy loaf. This is what makes Oboy Bread brown evenly in your toaster. Bread made with skimmed dry milk, such as many bakers use (and advertise their loaf "Made With Milk"), cannot have these vastly important globules of milk-fat held evenly in suspension as shown above.

Good, rich, concentrated milk is just one of Oboy Bread's premium quality ingredients. Fine flour is another . . . the best we can buy. Flour made from selected wheat cleaned and washed by the most approved milling methods. Milled just right from the creamy-rich hearts of selected, sun-ripened grain. And Fresh Yeast . . . plenty of it to give "life" to the loaf. To add precious vitamins. To keep Oboy Bread fresh and tender in your bread box. Finest ingredients, perfectly balanced, evenly baked!

Your grocer has Oboy Bread now . . . right from our ovens. Good bread made with rich milk. Packed with nutrition! Ready-sliced—just the right thickness for table, sandwiches, or toasting. Regular if you prefer to slice your own. Look for Oboy Bread's gay red, blue and yellow wrapper. Why be satisfied with skimmed dry milk another day?

Fred Blumer Found in Hotel Unharmed; $150,000 Ransom Unpaid.

MONROE, Wis., April 17.—(P)—Fred J. Blumer, head of a beverage manufacturing company, was safe at home with his family tonight while the kidnappers who held him for a week were in hiding without the $150,000 ransom they demanded for his release.

Blumer, president of the Blumer Products Company and director of the First National Bank of Monroe, was found in the Hotel Orlando, Decatur, Ill., early today. He was fatigued, suffered nervous exhaustion and needed a shave. Otherwise he was unharmed.

The kidnappers apparently fearing capture, authorities said, released Blumer on a Decatur street about 9 o'clock Thursday night, seven days after he disappeared while on his way to a local hotel to keep a business appointment. He was given $20 of the money previously taken from him, his watch and diamond ring.

Shortly after noon today Sheriff Myron West, of Green county, E. B. Lutzinger, president of the First National Bank here, and Jacob and Adam Blumer, his brothers, brought Blumer back to Monroe in an automobile. He had advised them last night that he was safe in Decatur.

Blumer, Lutzinger and Archie Wells, secretary-treasurer of the beverage company, joined in an emphatic denial that any money was paid for his release. They expressed the opinion he was freed because the extortion gang was too closely pressed by Illinois police. They admitted, however, that negotiations with the kidnappers were near conclusion in Streator, Ill., late yesterday.

Lieutenant William J. Cusack, of the Chicago detective bureau, led a squad of Chicago officers and Illinois state highway patrolmen in a search and engaged in a gun fight with the kidnappers, he believed.

While going to Streator last night to meet Jacob Blumer, who was in contact with go-betweens, Cusack said his two automobiles, machine guns mounted, gave chase to two cars.

SPANISH REPUBLIC SOLVES PROBLEM OF UNITED NATION

conference with Foreign Minister Aristide Briand.

While formally recognizing the new government with a note conveyed to Secretary of State Llewellyn, the British ambassador, the ministry expects to send notes to all countries informing them of the change in government.

The provisional government of Spain announced tonight it would recognize all debts of the monarchy. The immediate result was the settling of stocks and securities on the exchange.

All Banks Guarded.

The announcement caused a feeling of optimism in the business and banking worlds and stimulated more confidence generally in the economic future of the country. Most of Spain's outstanding obligations are domestic bank issues. It is understood that the $60,000,000 credit arranged for the former government through the J. P. Morgan interests in New York has not yet been drawn on.

Every bank in the country was guarded by policemen today—outside and inside—but the precaution was unnecessary. There have been no bank runs or anything to suggest a tendency toward looting. The populace continues calm and restrained and attends to normal affairs.

Barcelona was reported to have quieted down after short disorders this morning in which all prisoners were released from jails. The public was awaiting the results of negotiations between representatives of the Madrid government and the Catalan republic regarding their future relationship.

Cabinet members here discounted the possibility of serious disaffection between the two republics. The Madrid delegation is attempting to persuade their conferees to accept what amounts to state autonomy within the Spanish republic, it was said, at least until both governments show that they can function.

Policy of Prudence.

The Spanish ministry so far is pursuing a policy of prudence. This is contributing to an easier feeling among the people and making some friends for the new order.

However, such a program only serves to irritate the communists, already enemies of the republic, and they continually threaten to start trouble in such cities as Barcelona, Bilbao and Seville.

American Ambassador Irwin B. Laughlin visited Provisional President Niceto Alcalá Zamora today to arrange with proper authorities for the exchange of business between the two nations. Secretary of State Llewellyn cordially and asked him to continue handling all matters with the foreign office.

The visit implied neither a friendly nor unfriendly attitude on the part of the United States, nor did it signify recognition or non-recognition of the Spanish republic. However, the Madrid press, without any authority from the ambassador, attached favorable significance to the meeting and considered it friendly.

Minister of State Alejandro Lerroux said that by pointing out to the Basque states the danger of separation, it had been possible to hold

Court Holds Spanking Of Wife Permissible

OMAHA, Neb., April 17.—(P)—A husband may not include in wife beating but an old-fashioned spanking is another matter in police court here.

Mrs. John Kuttler came into court demanding a jail sentence and a long one—for her husband. She said he beat her.

Kuttler, 28, said it was no beating at all but a spanking, with a mother-of-pearl inlaid hairbrush.

The court advised them to go home and packed up—to go separate ways.

He said that region was tranquil and there was no intent to separate from the Spanish republic.

The republican government today named General Richard Burqueto president of the council of war and marine, to succeed General Jose Calvalcanti. Burqueto was removed by former Premier Juan B. Aznar as a result of his conduct during the court-martial of the republican committee, which he was regarded as having failed to prosecute with sufficient diligence. Aznar had him arrested and named Calvalcanti in his place.

Reports that the government had ordered Jesuits expelled from Spain were denied by official sources tonight. It is believed the rumor started after the new city council at Giron asked the government to expel Jesuits. There has been no reply to the request.

Shortly before the recent municipal elections Jesuits were reported to have removed archives from Spain to Rome in order to prevent possible destruction if disorders arose. The government has announced that it intends to carry out former relations with Vatican City.

Minister of Interior Maura tonight instructed newly appointed provincial governors to report to the government any cases in which priests used their churches for spreading political propaganda. While no formal law exists forbidding preaching politics in churches, nevertheless the government is reported to feel that it is wise to restrict such preaching at present.

Maura cautioned the governors to remain neutral in questions relating to the church and not to attend ceremonies in official capacities. He told them, however, "always to maintain maximum courtesy with ecclesiastical authorities."

WEARY EXILED KING SHUNS CROWDS AT FRENCH CAPITAL.

PARIS, APRIL 17.—Weary from the effects of his thunderous reception last night, Alfonso XIII. spent his first day in exile in seclusion and delayed decision on his plans for the future.

Although Alfonso refused to give an interview, the Duke of Miranda acted as his representative in a long session with newspapermen. He told them his government had not had time to prepare for the future, but he expected to know within a few days where he would permanently reside, pending the holding of elections in Spain which Alfonso believes will return him to the throne.

The king and queen wish to efface themselves from public life, he said, and to live quietly as private citizens. In answer to a question, he said he did not know whether they might take a trip to England before deciding on a place of residence.

"I think the king is not likely to go away," he said, "although he may possibly make a flying visit to inspect whatever spot he has in view."

The duke let it be known that the monarch has dropped his royal title and wished to be known henceforth as the Duke of Toledo, one of his former leaguer ones. The duke and Duchess of Toledo who occupy the entire first floor of one of the capital's finest hotels.

Meanwhile, the French government became the first major power formally to recognize the Spanish republic. A few hours after a request from Charge d'Affaires Rolland, of Spain, Premier Pierre Laval held a conference with Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and extended recognition.

The welcome to Alfonso apparently disturbed the republicans and socialists here. Leon Blum, socialist leader, said the former's arrival made it easy to distinguish between the friends and foes of the French republic.

CATALONIA TO REMAIN PART OF SPAIN.

MADRID, April 17.—(UP)—The Catalan problem has been settled and Catalonia will remain an integral unit in the republic of Spain, the new republican government announced this evening.

The communists said that a message had been received from Nicolau D'Olivier, minister of national economy, one of three ministers who flew to Barcelona, advising that their negotiations with the republican regime there had been successful.

It had been feared that Catalonia would set up a separate republic, and the new regime in Madrid headed by Niceto Alcalá Zamora took urgent steps to prevent the country from being broken up into small autonomous states.

OFFENDING MONARCH NO LONGER PUNISHABLE.

MADRID, April 17.—(P)—The government today abolished the law of jurisdictions, although it will not be made public for a while. This law submitted the offending king or the army to special trials with severe penalties.

DUCHESSE'S $65,000 HELD AT BORDER.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish frontier, April 17.—(P)—The Duchess of Alba, who was leaving Spain with about $65,000 in Spanish currency, was stopped at Hendaye on the frontier and obliged to deposit the money in a bank there, in accordance with an order from Madrid. She then was permitted to proceed to Paris to join her husband, who had arrived there yesterday.

Spring Flower Show Will Close Tonight.

The Spring Flower show will conclude a four-day display of horticultural rarities and floral beauty tonight at 11 o'clock at the auditorium. The attendance records were testimony to the appeal it made to the taste of Atlantans, and the crowds that far surpassed such shows of previous years. Evergreens and cut flowers, banked lilies and individual potted plants were so well intermingled that the resultant effect was one of ineffable beauty. Cozy nooks, wedding scenes, Japanese and Spanish gardens, as well as gardens suited to the climate and resources of Atlanta with each other to give to the spectators a wealth of material with which to plan a little garden of his own.

At top, Alfonso XIII, former king of Spain, surrounded by supporters and gendarmes, is shown in this cable picture when he arrived in Paris, to rejoin in exile his queen, Victoria, shown below, and three sons and two daughters. He was nearly squeezed to death by the crowd of 12,000 French citizens who welcomed him at the station, but continued to smile at his enthusiastic reception. These pictures were telephoned from Paris to London from whence it was cabled to New York by the Bartlane process over Western Union cables.

Neuhoff Honeymoon Interrupted By Auto Crash; Bride Is Injured

The honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Neuhoff, of Atlanta, who were married here Thursday, was interrupted Friday when their Florida-bound automobile collided with a car driven by Frank Reed, of Valdosta, in that city, according to news dispatches.

Mrs. Neuhoff was injured slightly, and in a hospital at Valdosta, but will be able to continue the trip to Florida today, it was said. Neither Neuhoff nor the other driver was injured.

The cars collided on federal highway No. 41, south of Valdosta. Mrs. Neuhoff received a cut about an inch and a half long near the left eye and was bruised. Both cars were demolished.

Mr. Neuhoff, son of Lorenz Neuhoff, Sr., of Atlanta, is treasurer of the White Provision Company. His address is 353 Peachtree Battle avenue. The honeymoon of the Neuhoffs will be spent in Florida, and the date of their return to Atlanta was not given.

The accident to Mr. and Mrs. Neuhoff recalled the experience of his brother, Lorenz Neuhoff, Jr., and Mrs. Lorenz Neuhoff, Jr., at Miami last December, when the boiler on a glass-bottom pleasure boat exploded.

'Experience' Greatest University, Corra Harris Tells Alumni Heads

"Illiteracy can give more courses in learning than any university, and without matriculation fees."

This characteristic epigrammatic bit of philosophy of Corra Harris was principal speaker at the noon gathering of the American Alumni Council, which today will bring its three-day annual convention to a close at the Biltmore hotel.

Some illiterates are our most tragically educated people, while some so-called cultured are most comically educated, the writer, who is professor of the chair of evil at Hollins College, added in a brief address that dealt informally with aspects of present-day education and their relation to life.

Her talk, presented in a vein that was humorous, yet pointed and profound, gave her listeners an insight into the style of writing that has made her famous.

Speaking of the school of experience, Mrs. Harris remarked that she did not believe "there was such a thing as an uneducated man or woman."

Frankly admitting that she did not "know anything about education and don't believe anybody else does," Mrs. Harris asserted that for her to address the assembled group of alumni secretaries representing colleges from all sections of the nation was a case of "rushing in where angels had trod too much."

Emphasis on Success.

"American education has laid too much emphasis on success and not enough on contentment—the finest culture in the world," the authoress of "The Circuit-Rider's Wife," declared.

"The function of education should be the improving of qualities of mind and good taste for aiding in the choice of liberties and happiness. We devote too much on the ways and means of education, rather than on what education is. Religious prejudice and politics have done much to handicap the progress of education." These were some of the comments on educational conditions expressed by the distinguished speaker.

Citing the late business depression as an example of mental attitude and speaking on this aspect of modern educational methods, Mrs. Harris asserted it is "not practical to educate man and leave him a moral illiterate."

Concerning the need for education, she said "we must know more than to feel our way by faith through the world of delusion we call human life."

Delegates to the annual convention devoted Friday afternoon to sight-seeing tours and social entertainment.

The two measures will go to the senate for action.

"You are old enough to know better," the judge told the 99-year-old defendant. "Two years' probation, and don't let me see you in here again."

AUSTRALIA FACES DOUBLE CRISIS

CANBERRA, Australia, April 17.—(P)—Australia faced a double crisis today, the result of which may be the dissolution of both houses of the legislature and a general election.

The first shock to the labor government was the announcement that the Commonwealth bank had refused further to finance the government.

About the same time the senate, by a vote of 21 to 6, rejected the fiduciary currency bill which provided for the issuance of $20,000,000 in currency, a substantial part of which was to go to the relief of wheat-growers and unemployed.

Prime Minister Scullin announced that the bill would be sent back to the senate immediately and that if it failed of passage a second time a dissolution of the parliament would be sought, although there is no way of obtaining it sooner than three months.

Scullin scored the opposition, declaring the members had shown "no compassion for the farmers or the unemployed."

EDWARD H. INMAN PAID LAST TRIBUTE

Capitalist and Fulton Commissioner Laid To Rest at Oakland.

Edward H. Inman, capitalist, who gave much of his time to serving Atlanta and Fulton county, Friday afternoon slept under huge banks of flowers in old Oakland cemetery. Inman followed by a simple funeral service at the Inman home on Andrews drive, where thousands of persons from all walks of life gathered to pay the financial and political leader a last tribute.

The Rev. J. Spole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the home service and at the graveside.

Palibears included the following friends of Mr. Inman: Cobb, Caldwell, Dr. Philizy Calhoun, Andrew Calhoun, Logan Clarke, Dr. S. Elkin, Dr. Dan Elkin, Harry English, J. N. Goldard, Thomas K. Lenn, John Hardisty, Vaughn Nixon, Will L. Meador, Dr. James Paul, Thomas B. Paine, Albert Thorn, Clem Satterthwaite, J. Carroll, James D. Robinson, W. E. Hapin, Hughes Spaulding and Jesse Raper.

Among the floral offerings were those from the Fulton county commission, of which he was a member, Fulton county employees, and Fulton county police.

Death Came Unexpectedly.

Death came to Mr. Inman unexpectedly on Wednesday from a heart attack. News of his end caused a profound shock in his wide circle of friends. Fulton county courts and county offices were closed Friday afternoon during the funeral.

Resolutions of regret over Mr. Inman's death were adopted Friday by the Fulton county grand jury, and by the board of trustees of the Holmes Institute, and tribute to his memory as paid at a luncheon meeting of the Princeton alumni. Mr. Inman having been a member of the class of 1908.

The grand jury resolutions said Mr. Inman's "example in life has been a benefit to his fellowmen, and in his life range of activities, his mind and heart were ever open to the wants and necessities of others." "As a businessman and as a civic leader, his constant efforts and thoughts have been bent toward the upbuilding of his state, county and city, and we join with our fellowmen in deploring the loss of this trusted and valued citizen," the grand jury resolutions said.

Holmes Resolutions.

Resolutions of the board of trustees of Holmes Institute expressed a sense of devout thankfulness to God for giving to us such a man of large heart and broad vision to encourage us in our responsible and delicate task. "The resolutions said that Mr. Inman was the humanitarian and Christian citizen, modest of mien but of exceptional force." The resolutions, signed by E. L. F. Thompson, chairman, pointed out that the institution has lost one who from its beginning has known and approved its ideals and its activities, showing the genuineness of its friendship by its advocacy of it, his commendation of it, and his open-handed financial support of it. "Indeed, one of his last acts was, early in the afternoon of the day of his untimely departure, to sign a goodly check for its support," the resolutions said.

Mr. Inman was serving the unexpired term of the late George M. Hope on the Fulton county commission at the time of his death, and there still remain nearly two years of the term. Both Mr. Inman and Mr. Hope were chairmen of the finance committee. Mr. Inman's political service included two terms in city council. He was a native of Atlanta, born in 1881. His father was one of Atlanta's builders.

EAST POINT MEET SUPPORTS MERGER

Active support of the proposed Fulton-Campbell county merger was pledged at a mass meeting of Fulton county citizens at East Point this week. It was announced Friday by R. S. Thompson, secretary of the meeting. Several committees were appointed to co-operate with other organizations in urging registered voters to go to the polls on April 22 and vote for the merger, Thompson said.

"It is a generally admitted fact that the number of counties in Georgia is far too many for economical county government, and it is clearly evident that Fulton, the richest county and one of the smallest, should be a good example by being the first county to take in additional territory," Thompson said.

"The merger would enable the county cost of government per capita to be reduced as Fulton would benefit by the additional taxes while the added cost would be small and would be more than offset by increased revenues."

MAYOR REITERATES STAND ON GAS RATE

Mayor James L. Key Friday reiterated his defense of the small gas consumer of Atlanta in a conference at his office with J. W. Gates, general manager of the Atlanta Gas Light Company, which has petitioned for a revision of rates here.

The mayor declared that the small consumer at this time cannot pay an increase without working a distinct hardship on those least able to bear it. Mr. Gates assured the mayor that the company was seeking a revision solely for the purpose of increasing gas consumption and that such revision does not necessarily entail a rate hike.

R. C. Hoffman, Jr., vice president of the company, previously had made the same statement.

CAPONE LIEUTENANT SENTENCED TO JAIL

CHICAGO, April 17.—(P)—Sam Guzik, one of three brothers in the Capone syndicate, pleaded guilty to violating the income tax laws today and was sentenced to a year and a day in Leavenworth federal penitentiary and fined $2,500 by United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson.

His brother, Jack, reputed business manager for the Capone gambling houses, has an appeal pending from an income tax case conviction in which he was sentenced to a five-year term and $17,500 fine.

GAINESVILLE RAILROAD SEEKS TO DISCONTINUE

Application of the Gainesville & Northwestern railroad, filed by the receivers, to discontinue operation and abandon the line between Gainesville and Helen will be heard by Federal District Judge E. Marvin Underwood on April 25.

The road has never made a net profit, the application said, and has been constantly losing money since placed in the hands of receivers in 1923.

Its total personnel, including the operating receivers, G. A. Austin and S. O. Smith, is 32, and it has long since abandoned passenger service, it was said.

'Cleanup' Drive In Druid Hills Section Urged

Final appeals to Atlanta, and particularly to Druid Hills, to clean up streets, yards and vacant property was made in a statement issued Friday by Mrs. Charles LeRoux, president of the Druid Hills Garden Club.

"Atlanta is opening her gardens to the public," Mrs. LeRoux said, "and it is hoped that by Saturday there will be no paper or trash on the streets of Atlanta, particularly in Druid Hills."

"Nature," the club head's statement added, "has done her best to make Atlanta beautiful. Will you help the civic-minded clean up the streets of Atlanta and keep them free from paper and trash? Will you send your yard-

GAZAWAY BETTER, IS GIVEN 'CHANCE'

Earl Gazaway, who has been at Grady hospital for more than a week with a bullet in his brain, continues to show improvement, according to attendants. Although the nature of the injury is such that a relapse may be very sudden, physicians who have the case under observation believe that he has a good chance for recovery, and have expressed amazement at his tenacity to life.

When first brought to the hospital, after having been shot in the head by the proprietor of a restaurant he is alleged to have tried to burglarize, no hope was held out for him. He was blinded by the bullet that lodged in his brain, and another bullet that grazed his brow aggravated the condition.

Man out to pick up the paper in front of your house, in the parkways or vacant property?

Police Dog 'Joe' Mrs. Ellington's, Judge Determines

"Joe," an eight-month-old German police dog, belongs to Mrs. Mary Ellington, of 579 Ashby, S. W. Judge Luther Z. Koser, of municipal court of Atlanta, decided Friday afternoon after hearing witnesses for both Mrs. Ellington and Miss Sara Spier, a rival claimant, testify that they know the identity of the dog "because we know it."

Definite details of how to tell one dog from another were sought by attorneys for both parties. Ellington, but with little success from most of the witnesses, although one witness went so far as to say he knew the dog from appearance and manner, and that the animal was "kind of sh." Litigation over "Joe" began when

Mrs. Ellington instituted bail trover proceedings to recover the dog from Miss Spier, who claimed that she recognized the dog as a long-lost puppy from a litter bred by a dog which was brought into court.

Mrs. Ellington traced back her title to "Joe" by introducing J. W. Russell, who said he gave her the puppy, and L. M. James, who told of the dog's birth and presentation to Russell.

TOWN CAN DISSOLVE, FLORIDA COURT HOLDS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 17.—(P)—A Florida town, created by special legislative act may surrender its franchise, if a majority of its qualified electors so vote, without going to the legislature for another act abolishing the town, the supreme court held today.

The court gave its ruling in reversing the Orange county case of the town council of Pine Castle versus V. W. Cole, a taxpayer.

ACTION IS DEFERRED ON PLAYGROUND HEAD

Election of a supervisor for Atlanta playgrounds was deferred Friday night by the parks committee of council out of deference to Alderman Everett Millican, chairman, who was unable to attend the session.

The committee voted to permit use of Piedmont park for the annual horse show in Atlanta, May 21-23, and reduced the price of admission to the cyclorama, historic painting of the Battle of Atlanta, to 15 cents, effective May 1, with a proviso that no passes shall be issued in the future. George I. Simons, general manager, was empowered to beautify grounds surrounding the various Atlanta fire stations.

RED TEST CARGO REACHES AMERICA

NEWPORT, R. I., April 17.—(P)—The Finnish steamer Anversois, carrying a load of Russian lumber, steamed up Narragansett bay tonight toward Providence, Captain William Champion, bay pilot, said.

Her cargo was sent by the Soviet government and is expected to make a test case settling the question of whether it should be excluded from the United States as the product of forced labor.

Soldiers Fight To Draw In 3-Hour Battle at Benning

Armies of 2,300 Men Each Employ Every Device of Modern Warfare in Spirited Combat.

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 17. (AP)—A terrific battle between two armies of 2,300 men each was declared a draw here Thursday night after the units, made up of organizations from the fourth corps area, had fought for three hours.

A military critique composed of Major General Frank R. McCoy, commander of the fourth corps area, Brigadier General George H. Estes, commanding the "Red" army, and Colonel Duncan K. Major, Jr., commanding the "Blue" forces, announced the results of the fight.

Twenty-seven umpires who watched the fighting were not called into conference Thursday night.

The commanding officers said they were pleased with the results obtained from the maneuvers. However, they said service of the air forces had not reached expectations. Enemy movements were spotted by the airmen, they said, but were not reported promptly.

The battle today was fought along a two-mile front on this 97,000-acre reservation with big field pieces, trench mortars, machine guns, rifles and tanks firing in a realistic scene.

While forces of infantry, artillery and cavalry attacked each other in mimic fashion, airplanes and observation balloons circled high in the sky, some planes dropping bombs, others observing, and still others throwing down smoke screens.

One of the armies, designated as the Reds, was stationed along Cusseta road on the edge of the reservation. The Reds marched into the defending Blue army. On the command of the defending general, "Duke," the officers of the Red forces held a council of war and decided to attack.

The left flank of the Blues was decided on as the center of attack, since the right flank of the army would have thrown the invaders into the marshes of General Creek.

As soon as the Reds launched their attack, the Blues countered, using their reserves. The Blue forces reported they drove the Reds back on Hill creek and bottled them up.

The Reds, however, claimed advantage of strategic position and when the battle was ordered stopped by umpires, commanders of both forces said they apparently had won.

A board of 25 umpires was in conference tonight to study the maneuvers of the two armies during the past two days, and to decide who won the war.

The fire was so heavy during the battle today that great clouds of smoke, in addition to the smoke screen laid by airplanes, covered the field. Through the haze great artillery guns belched fire and smoke and imaginary destruction to lay waste the "enemy" troops.

Trench mortars, bursting bombs and machine gun and rifle fire added to the rumble. The smoke screen, the terrain, spitting fire from their guns.

Word of the progress of the battle was sent to the command by the commanding general and his staff, from underground communication stations, using radio field telephones, and from radio-equipped planes carrying the umpires over the scene of battle.

After the battle was ordered ceased, the troops started on the march back to Camp Leonard Wood. They will rest tomorrow, preparatory to the divisional maneuvers Monday and Tuesday.

Brigadier General George H. Estes commanded the red forces, which claimed one signal victory in the two-day maneuvers by the capture of the capital city of the blues, near Columbus.

Colonel Duncan K. Major, Jr., of Fort Benning, commanded the blue forces.

In the blue army were the twenty-ninth infantry; a light tank company; troop 1, sixth cavalry; first battalion, eighty-third field artillery; flights C and D, twenty-second observation squadron. The red army included the eighth infantry brigade; a platoon of tanks; flights A and B, of the twenty-second observation squadron; second battalion, sixteen of the field artillery; first squadron, sixth cavalry.

WILLIAM HART DIES IN MARIETTA

Prominent Columbus Citizen Succumbs After Illness of Year.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 17.—William Hart, prominent Columbus citizen, died early Friday at a hospital in Marietta, Ga., according to advices received here. Mr. Hart had been in ill health for the past year. His condition became critical Thursday and his wife, who is society editor of the Enquirer-Sun, left Columbus immediately for Marietta. Mr. Hart was recently removed to the hospital from the home of his sister, Mrs. William Byrd Tate, at Marietta.

While maintaining his residence here with his family Mr. Hart had been spending much of his time the past few months at Marietta in the hope that his health would be benefited, and for a time he had seemed improved. At intervals, even recently, he had been able to carry on his work in the insurance business there.

Mr. Hart, a son of the late Captain Thomas Hart, C. S. A., and Mrs. Lucy Bentley Hart, of Weldon plantation, Pulaski county, Virginia, was born in Pulaski county, Virginia, but moved with his parents to Union Point, Greene county, Georgia, when a boy. The date of his birth was July 15, 1880. In January, 1909, Mr. Hart was united in marriage with Miss Mira Bullard, daughter of the late Dr. W. L. Bullard, and Mrs. Bullard, of Columbus. He had one son, William Hart, Jr., who was engaged in the insurance business.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Louise Hart, who is a student at Vassar; Miss Mary Hart, and a son, William Bullard Hart, of this city; three sisters, Mrs. Tate of Marietta; Mrs. Samuel Hill Sibley, of Marietta; and Mrs. Lucius H. Chappell, of Columbus. An only brother, Henry Bentley Hart, died several years ago.

Mrs. Hart and her sister, Mrs. L. W. McPherson, of this city, and young William Bullard Hart, were called to Marietta a few days before Mr. Hart took a sudden turn for the worse, and were with him at the time of his death, as were his sister, Mrs. Tate, and his son, William Hart, Jr.

Funeral services will be held from the residence here Saturday at noon conducted by Dr. Robert S. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and interment will be in Linwood cemetery. The following will serve as pallbearers: T. C. Crawford, Harry L. Williams, T. Charlton Hudson, R. L. Jordan, John P. Huges and A. O. Blackman.

NATHANIEL B. STEWART PAID HIGH TRIBUTE

WASHINGTON, April 17.—High tribute was paid Friday to the memory of Nathaniel B. Stewart, of Georgia, former American consul general at Barcelona, Spain, who passed away in this city early this morning. An official statement issued late today by the state department says:

"In the passing of Consul General Stewart the foreign service loses one of its ablest officers and one who has won the honor and esteem of all his colleagues. He and Mrs. Stewart have endeavored themselves to all who have been so fortunate as to be associated with them."

"It will be recalled that Consul General Stewart, accompanied by Yokohama, Japan, immediately after the earthquake in 1923, where they lived in tents and temporary portable houses during the arduous reconstruction period. At the time of the earthquake Mr. Stewart was acting as chief of the office of consular personnel in the department, and volunteered for this difficult and dangerous assignment."

The funeral party left Washington at midnight tonight for America. Mr. Stewart was born at Butler, Ga., January 4, 1871; graduated from the University of Georgia, A. B., 1893; attended George Washington Law school, 1897-99; was a clerk in the navy department, 1893-97; in the war department, 1897-99; engineer department of the city of Richmond, 1899-1902; provincial treasurer, Philippine Islands, 1902-7; appointed assistant consul general at Castellón de la Plana, Spain, August 15, 1907; at Madrid June 10, 1908; at Durban, December 19, 1910; at Milan, July 14, 1913; consul general at large, July 1914; consul general at Genoa, 1915; consul general at Rome, 1916; consul general at Madrid, 1917; consul general at Yokohama, September 8, 1923; at Tokyo, December 9, 1923; foreign service officer of Class 1, July 1, 1924; Barcelona, January 7, 1928; to the department, November 14, 1930.

Lamar Countians Await Grand Jury Action in Killing of Paralytic.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 17.—(AP)—Sheriff Z. T. Elliott, of Lamar county, announced Thursday night that he is holding Grady and Tom Bunn in jail here in connection with the killing of their father, T. F. Bunn, who was found dead with a pistol wound in his right temple.

A coroner's jury Friday returned a verdict that T. F. Bunn was killed "by unknown parties."

The arrest of the two sons followed. They claimed to have been asleep in an adjoining room at the time their father was killed.

The sheriff said that he would allow them to attend their father's funeral Saturday morning, after which they are to be returned to the Lamar county jail to await action of the grand jury, which will convene May 25.

CORDOLE MAN DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

TIFTON, Ga., April 17.—(AP)—W. R. Williamson, of Cordole, who was injured in an automobile accident near Spacomore, Ga., Sunday which claimed the lives of two Atlanta men, died in a hospital here Friday.

Williamson, a filling station and grocery store owner of Cordole, suffered abrasions and other injuries and first reports of the accident said he was probably fatally wounded. He remained in the hospital for a time held out hope for his recovery.

Paul L. Ewing, head of a wholesale jewelry company of Atlanta, and Edwin N. Shute, 22, an employee of the A. & P. Tea Company, of Atlanta, were the two men to lose their lives in the accident. Ewing lived a short time but it is believed Shute was killed instantly.

Williamson had been to Florida for a truck load of oranges and was returning to Cordole, Ewing and Shute were on a tour of inspection en route to Daytona Beach, Fla., in a sedan to join the wife and daughter of Mr. Ewing there. The truck and the sedan crashed head-on.

A resident of Cordole since 1916, Williamson came here from Dublin, Ga. He has six children, three boys and three girls. He was a brother-in-law of Captain Cox, Crisp county warden.

TWO SONS HELD IN MAN'S DEATH

Lamar Countians Await Grand Jury Action in Killing of Paralytic.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 17.—(AP)—Sheriff Z. T. Elliott, of Lamar county, announced Thursday night that he is holding Grady and Tom Bunn in jail here in connection with the killing of their father, T. F. Bunn, who was found dead with a pistol wound in his right temple.

A coroner's jury Friday returned a verdict that T. F. Bunn was killed "by unknown parties."

The arrest of the two sons followed. They claimed to have been asleep in an adjoining room at the time their father was killed.

The sheriff said that he would allow them to attend their father's funeral Saturday morning, after which they are to be returned to the Lamar county jail to await action of the grand jury, which will convene May 25.

ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1931.

Jackets Take Opening Game of Series From Petrels, 8 to 7; Chattanooga Sluggers Hit Hard To Defeat Crackers, 10 to 3

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets began an eight-game stand on their own Rose Bowl field yesterday by defeating Oglethorpe, 8 to 7, in a thrilling finish. It was the first blow the Jackets have struck to dig themselves out of the cellar of the Dixie College league.

They play Oglethorpe again today. Then Monday they face Mercer, Florida and Auburn in order for two games each—a solid week of combat with their own sod under their spikes.

The first battle was a lulu. "Sheriff" Crowley, a slim sorrel-topped boy from Watkinsville, pitched as smart a game as a collegian ever twirled. His boy friends were kicking away chances to win and booting Petrel runners home but ice water was in the Sheriff's veins. He broke his curve ball in there as steadily as if he had the Athletics behind him. And toward dark he switched to his fast ball, a delivery with plenty of powder.

Twice Dr. Ike Farmer came to bat with men in scoring position and fanned with mighty swings. But in the eighth with bases loaded again, he poled out a smart single that scored the tying and winning runs.

Interest in college baseball has been spurred by the formation of the league and the series next week will pack the park. The Yellow Jackets vow and declare they will be leading the league a week from today or know why.

SPRING AT LAST.

It appears that the opening day of the baseball season convinced the weather man that spring actually had come to stay. And downtown yesterday practically the entire lodge of fishermen, both of the fly-rod and the jerk-pole chapters, had gone into action.

But Wayward Boye, the Mental Marble, who is night watchman at the day nursery, called over the telephone to ask:

"Is it safe yet to take off my spats?"
The answer was, of course, "Much safer."

BASEBALL SETTLES ITS OWN PROBLEMS.

Many potent questions are before the baseball body for settlement now.

Are the Crackers as good as they look on paper?
Can Connie Mack's boys make it three in a row?
Is Babe Ruth through?
Will the Cubs perform as smartly under Hornsby as they did under McCarthy?
Are the Giants about to stage another old-time McGrawian uprising?

These are really important topics. These are problems of real moment in the lives of a hundred million. And baseball has an efficient way of settling its problems within six months or less.

What a pity legislative bodies, state and national, cannot do as well with their own minor questions of farm relief, international relations, unemployment, prohibition and taxation.

THE BOYS GET STARTED.

John Henry Suther and Ralph McRight, two of Alabama's Rose Bowl stars, are on the job for spring football practice at Hopkinsville (Ky.) high school, I see by the home town papers.

These youngsters are beginning their adventure in coaching with the world before them and a fertile field in which to work.

They will teach their charges how to block and tackle, and they will impart a dash of their own flaming competitive spirit. That is all a high-school team needs to get along.

IN THE OPEN.

Folks are charmingly frank about life up in Kentucky and Tennessee. While in Kentucky on a visit last week, I picked up a handbill off a stack in the local bus station.

The handbill announced: "Cocking Main, Nashville Athletic Club Pit, Hydes Ferry Pike, Sunday, April 12," and gave the names of a prominent chicken fancier of Hopkinsville whose birds were to battle those of a Nashville sportsman.

The old-time sport considered barbarous and actually "agin the law" everywhere is still taken seriously up there. This may be indicative of retarded civilization. Again it may be just an expression of native honesty.

THE DEATHLESS EPIC.

Answering two requests for publication of "Casey at the Bat." The very first time we can steal a little space. Meanwhile I know a lad who will recite it on slight provocation.

BERT REARING TO GO.

Bert Niehoff, now the skipper of the Lookouts, is looking great this spring. His jowls are lean and his step springy. He is full of fire and ginger. After a year out of baseball selling life insurance, he is prancing at the smell of smoke.

"When are you going to sign a player's contract and get out the old glove?" I asked.

"Say, listen, if these youngsters don't snap out of it and get a move on them you are liable to see me out there at work. I might step on my glove occasionally, but I'd throw the ball to the right place when I got hold of it," Bert answered.

FIRST AID.

Lee Jensen, a Georgia Tech man who assisted Mike Chambers in binding up the wounds of athletes last football season, is the new trainer of the Lookouts. Jensen already has a large hospital list on his hands. He had the entire Lookout infield out at Tech yesterday giving them adjustments and heat treatments under the eye of the old maestro.

HELP, HELP.

JACKETS BEAT PETRELS, 8 TO 7, IN FIRST GAME

Farmer Bats in Five Runs To Aid Mates. Two Play Today.

By Jack Troy.

Ike Farmer's big bat was the deciding factor of the Oglethorpe-Tech game at the Rose Bowl Friday, the husky catcher driving in a total of five runs to break up the contest in the eighth with the score 8 to 7 in favor of the Jackets. The game was called at this point on account of darkness.

Tech opened up with a bunting attack in the first inning and scored five runs before the Petrels could check them. Ritchie was hit by Ray Walker, pitching for Oglethorpe; Isaacs beat out an infield hit, Harper followed suit and R'chie scored when Whitley errored on McKee's roller. Then, with the bases loaded, Farmer clouted a hard double down the left-field line to score all three runners. After Dawson went out, Walker to Bryant, Hoges singled to score Farmer.

The Jackets added another in the third. Dawson walked, Hoges singled and Holt hit a one-bagger, tallying Dawson.

PETRELS RALLY.

Oglethorpe rallied in the fourth, scoring five runs after batting around on Crowley, Tech right-hander. The score remained Tech 6, Oglethorpe 5. In the fourth Riggins walked, Whitley also walked and Moore's single drove in Riggins. Anderson flied out, but Bryant hit a sharp roller to Isaacs, who fumbled, and Whitley scored. Golden's single scored Moore and Bryant scored when Farmer fumbled the throw from the outfield. Then Walker came through with a single to send Golden across.

Another Oglethorpe rally in the seventh wrestled the lead from the Jackets, making the first time they had been ahead during the contest.

MOORE SINGLES.

Moore led off with a single, Anderson sacrificed, Bryant walked and Golden beat out an infield hit to fill the bases. Whitley fanned, but Walker's roller shot through Ritchie's legs, and Moore and Bryant scored.

It was but a momentary glimpse into the victory closet for Oglethorpe, however.

With darkness settling on the Rose Bowl in the eighth, Ritchie and Isaacs singled in succession. Pitcher Hitt Waldon previously had fanned and Harper, following Isaacs, popped up. McKee walked, loading the bases and, with two out, Farmer drove a single to left, scoring Ritchie and Isaacs and winning the game for Tech.

And so the boys out at the Flats are singing the praises of Ike Farmer and rejoicing in Tech's lead in the annual city series.

WALKER BEATEN.

It was Pitcher Ray Walker's initial defeat of the season. Both Georgia and Auburn were previous victims of his flounder.

The Jackets touched Walker for 12 hits, the safeties being evenly distributed among six batsmen.

Oglethorpe, with Golden leading the offensive, scored 10 hits off Crowley's delivery.

The two teams will meet again today in the closing game of the series. "Cannonball" Baker is expected to be sent against Oglethorpe by Kid Clay, while Coach Frank Anderson will choose between Ryper, left-hander, and Charley Mitchell, elongated right-hander.

Scenes as Jackets Got Off to Lead in Petrel Series

Georgia Tech and Oglethorpe opened their annual 1931 baseball wars on the Rose Bowl field at the Flats yesterday afternoon. Tech won an 8-7 verdict in a game which saw each team make five-run rallies. At the top is Golden, Petrel center fielder, singling in the fourth inning, the Petrels' best, to score Moore. Ike Farmer is the vainly waiting chap playing frog; Tubby Walton bulks behind him. At the bottom Ray Isaacs, Tech shortstop, is sliding back to third base, having taken a long lead and then seen Walker throw to Herrin in a try to nip him off. He got safely back, however.

FULTON RETAINS LEAD IN LEAGUE

County Boys Beat Marist, 21-1; Decatur, U. S. B. in 3-3 Tie.

Fulton High school remained at the top of the North Georgia Intercollegiate conference baseball standings by defeating Marist College, 21-1, Friday afternoon at Marietta. In the other game of the league, Decatur High and University School battled 13 innings to a 3-3 tie. The game was called because of darkness.

Paul Mullins continued his good pitching, holding Marist scoreless for seven innings and after his mates had piled up a safe lead, Kimerly relieved him and finished the game. Mullins gave up four scattered hits and struck out eight.

Edwards started for Marist but was taken out after a barrage of base hits in the third, fourth and fifth innings. Ford and Watkins were the hitting stars for Fulton.

Decatur Battles U. S. B. to 3-3 Tie.

In a pitchers' battle, Decatur and University played 13 innings to a 3-to-3 tie at Piedmont park Friday afternoon. Burgess started for Decatur and gave way to McKinley in the ninth inning. Burns pitched the entire game for University.

Both teams fielded sensationally and McKinley shared hitting honors with Burns, of U. S. B., with a home run each.

SUTTER BEATEN IN TENNIS FINALS

Bows to Van Ryn in North-South Meet at Pinehurst.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 17.—(UP)—John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, Davis cup doubles mate of George Lott, captured the singles title of the united north and south tennis tourney here today defeating Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, national collegiate champion, 7-5, 6-2.

In the women's division, Mrs. Marjorie Zinderstein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., captured final honors by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, wife of the men's titlist, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2.

Sutter was leading in the first set, 5-4, and had things at set point when Van Ryn passed him with an easy volley. Sutter lost the point, then the game, and ultimately the set.

That was the beginning of the end, as the New Orleans star could not seem to get going, while Van Ryn played progressively tighter tennis to unsettle his rival and give the Philadelphia man as easy a victory as Sutter's 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 semi-final victory over Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, national clay courts champion.

Dr. Jack Wright and Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis cup stars, advanced a bracket in the doubles play by defeating P. L. Kynaston and John McKelvie, New York, 6-0, 7-5, 14-12.

LOOSE PLAYING BY ATLANTANS AIDS WINNERS

Ryan Beaten by Ball and Is Taken From Field But Will Play Today

By Ralph McGill.

That loud noise Friday afternoon was the Cracker machine falling apart and losing, 10 to 3, to the Chattanooga Lookouts at Spiller field.

It was a very curious game, which saw two Chattanooga pitchers knocked out. And yet, what is your surprise to find that Steve Ellis, the first one, gave up just one hit and one run. And what is your amazement to find that the second pitcher knocked out gave up two singles and no runs at all. The third one was touched for the terrible total of two hits and two runs.

SOMETHING WRONG.

If that is knocking out pitchers then set them up in the other alley. Something is wrong. Bert Niehoff, the ex-patriate, was taking no chances. He yanked his pitchers whenever they gave a base on balls and looked excitedly at the next batter.

The Crackers were as ragged as a hobo's shirt. They were all run down at the belt when the game finished.

The casualty list in this series looks something like the one at the battle of Bull Run. That is comparatively speaking. Johnny (Blondy) Ryan was the Cracker rubbed out Friday.

He was beaten by Steve Ellis. Ellis claimed he didn't do it on purpose. Yet it looked funny. On the pitch just before the one that clipped Ryan in the head he almost knocked the Cracker shortstop down. The ball was right at his head. He ducked it and staggered back on his knees.

WAR STOPPED.

The next time Ellis hit him, Ryan advanced to find out what a cluster of knuckles could do against Ellis's skull. John Dobbs, who has been in these baseball brawls since you were in your kiddie days, stopped the evening hostilities. And the game went on. And went from bad to worse so far as the Crackers were concerned.

Ryan tried to stay in the game. He went out the next inning when the landscape began to whirl around and two men began to bat instead of one. Lamotte shifted to short and Amos Martin went in at third base.

Jack Shipley, who replaced Red Barnes on Thursday, was himself replaced by Jim Hammond in the latter stages of the game.

The substitutes tried hard but the Cracker machine is missing. There's carbon in the cylinders. It will be removed today when Red Barron gets into uniform. He will replace Barnes.

Barnes will be out for ten days. So says Mickey O'Brien. Barnes will leave the hospital today. His ankle, in which the tendons are divorced, will mend quickly, the trainer thinks.

PITCHERS.

Bert Niehoff handled his pitchers smartly. The Crackers have made three hits until the ninth. A very belated rally netted a couple of runs with the aid of two hits and two errors. Niehoff jerked his pitchers in the ninth inning and the new comer choked off what appeared to be a rally.

The Crackers got one run in the first inning. And would have had more but for a sensational stop by W. S. Kingston, the shortstop. Seems as if he is determined to be a constant fly in the ointment. He had them last Tuesday with a home run. And he was active yesterday afield and at bat.

The Crackers tossed aside chances in the second and third. The fourth saw them were in scoring position and did not score. They tossed aside still other chances in the third. Not once did the Crackers catch a chance until the ninth. And then it was too late.

LOOKOUTS LEAD.

Chattanooga took the lead in their half of the first with two runs. Paul Gregory followed when and didn't really get steady. He was retiring in the fourth and Climax Blithen inserted.

Gregory almost steadied in the second and third. The fourth saw him break open at the seams as Lookout bats hammered in five runs.

Climax Blithen pitched good ball until the ninth when he was replaced for three tallies. Two errors by his mates did not help his cause any.

The Crackers plainly showed the ill effects of substitutions, all of them made in the ninth.

RYAN BACK TODAY.

Johnny Ryan will be back in today. He was removed to the clubhouse during the game and an ankle applied to his head. When he left he could wear his hat.

Ray Francis or Johnny Morrison will pitch for Atlanta this afternoon. Dixie Davis or Hensel Hulvey will work for the Lookouts.

Barron Will Play In Barnes' Place

Red Barron, who hit .345 with the Crackers last season, was placed on the playing list Friday night and will be in the outfield this afternoon when the Crackers meet the Lookouts in the deciding game of the series. Each team has won two.

Red Barnes was dropped from the playing list because of his injury and will be out for two weeks. Cracker officials took this step to strengthen the team during his enforced absence.

Barnes injured an ankle in the opening game Thursday at Spiller field.

The Crackers and Lookouts meet at 2:30 this afternoon.

Boys' High Golf Squad Plays Bullpups Today

Boys' High golf team will step out of prep circles this afternoon on the Athens Country Club course to meet the University of Georgia freshmen in the second match on the Purple schedule.

Chamblee Beats Norcross, 9 to 5

CHAMBLEE, Ga., April 17.—Chamblee High defeated Norcross, 9 to 5, here this afternoon in a free hitting contest. Chamblee bunched hits in the first and sixth innings to score seven of the nine runs.

Fred Polvogt Stars In Mobile Victory

Fred Polvogt, former Cracker catcher who was released this spring because of the "B" rule, was the hero in Mobile's victory over New Orleans Friday.

Polvogt batted in six runs, winning the game with a home run in the eighth with the bases filled. In addition to the home run he made a single and a two-base hit. The Crackers wanted to keep Polvogt but the rule which required each club to carry five "B" players made it impossible, since both he and Chick Autry, the first-string catcher, were "B" men.

man backed up by nine Irishmen and a German, who, when he was hit, he was hit when they were hit.

Similarly, a great Army backfield, led by Light Horse Harry Wilson, pulled a game out of the fire in the classic between Army and Navy when they met at Soldiers' field, Chicago, in 1926.

WILSON STEPS.

The Army had been outchained, outmaneuvered and outplayed by a relentless Navy team. As dusk gathered over the field the score stood 20-13 in favor of Navy.

With defeat staring them in the face this great Army backfield moved up the field and at the crucial moment Navy, Army quarterback, called for a cutback by Wilson—his favorite play.

There was no hole there, but Wilson made one. He hand-carried the two Navy linemen who tried to hang on to him. Into the open he sprang. He slipped his hip into the Navy fullback, and the Navy quarterback, reversed his field, up and over the goal line. Murrell kicked and the score was tied 20-20. It was a game of thrills—of the most unusual football.

THESE ACCIDENTS.

Accidents can crowd thrills into a game even more than design. Against Minnesota in 1926, Joe Boland, left tackle for Notre Dame, was hit by a punt that hit his leg broken by one of his own teammates. It was our ball. On the first play after that Freddy Collins, our fullback, hit the line. Result—his was broken in three places and out he came to take his place in the ambulance alongside of Boland.

After replacing both men I didn't know whether to swoon or laugh idiotically at these savage breaks. The team lined up and on our next play Bucky Dahman, right halfback, ran 70 yards for a touchdown. I came down to earth. Over the telephone came a message from Boland and Collins. "We're all through," they said. "All we can do is get the score when the game's over."

I repeated the message to the team. Result: In the second half on the first play Flanagan ran 70 yards for a touchdown. For support that night I ate nothing but celery for my nerves.

MORE THRILLS.

The following year there were more thrills from Doc Spear's steam-roller team. Nimmie scored early in the game. It looked as if Flanagan might get loose at any moment, but the Gopher tackling was sure and tenacious. It completely nullified our running attack.

There were two minutes to play and we had the ball on our own 15-yard line. Having in mind killing time—70 in our favor—the quarterback called for a line plunge. There was a fumble. Like a flash the big Minnesota tackle, Bronco Nagurski, pounced on the ball. It was Minnesota's ball on our 5-yard line. A minute and a half to play.

Three times the great Joeesting hit the Irish line, but he patted only a yard. It was fourth down, goal to go, and time was almost up—touchdown or the game was over.

Back came the ball to Joeesting. He started forward as if to plunge, but suddenly backed up and hurled a beautiful pass to Walsh, Minnesota right end, who jumped up into the air and caught it in the end zone.

Pharmer, sub Minnesota halfback, kicked for the extra point, leisurely but surely, tying the score. (Copyright, 1931, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Rockne's own story concludes tomorrow with some more spectacular gridiron impressions.

Ansley, Druid Hills Set Golf Tourneys

Two one-day novelty golf tournaments will be played today on the Ansley Park and Druid Hills courses. It was announced Friday.

A four-ball Scotch course has been planned by Tommy Wilson for Ansley Park players. A small entry fee will be charged and prizes will be given to the members of the winning team.

Harry Stephens, professional at Druid Hills, has arranged a one-day medal course tournament with full handicaps applying. The players will be grouped into A and B classes with handicaps up to 18 in Class A and all others in Class B. Prizes will be given to winners in each class.

Wending their majestic way to the Fort Benning maneuvers, via Maxwell field, nine Keystone bombardment planes, flying in perfect formation, dropped over the heart of Atlanta Friday and landed for the night at Candler field. They will resume their flight this morning, proceeding to Maxwell field for the establishment of transport operations in Louisiana and Texas, would come into Atlanta and launch a passenger line to Birmingham. Friday was given credence Friday by the arrival here of a plane from H. McKee, general traffic manager of the company. While no definite announcement has been forthcoming, either from Mr. McKee or his company, it seems highly probable now that the new route will be inaugurated, and in the very near future. It is reported that several round trips a day will be made.

Wedell-Williams now operates a passenger line from New Orleans to Fort Worth, via Shreveport and Baton Rouge, and is shortly to inaugurate, it has been reported, a passenger service from St. Louis to Brownsville, Texas. While the company uses Lockheed Wasp Vespers on its line from Texas, it is not believed that equipment of that type will be employed here, in view of the comparatively short emergency flights provided between here and Birmingham. Atlanta has been heretofore a passenger service since Delta Airlines, Inc., abandoned its line upon the opening of American Airways' southern transcontinental. It was announced a few days ago, however, that American Airways would reopen passenger service to that point on May 1, on which date a 3,300-foot runway on Birmingham's new airport is scheduled to be completed.

Every operator at Candler field—American Airways, Inc., Blevins Aircraft Corporation, Curtiss-Wright Flying Service and Eastern Air Transport, Inc.—filed bids a day or so ago for the contract to be let by the United States weather bureau covering daily flights to determine atmospheric conditions at various levels.

Several visiting planes landed at Candler field during the last day or so. A single-engine Sikorsky amphibian, the S-40, was scheduled for a flight from Miami to Cincinnati. Pilot Russ Wiest was at the controls.

A frequent visitor here, a Challenger Robin, owned by the Nolan Company, Newport News, Va., plumb-hoppered to Chattanooga Friday, which Thursday by William Hampson, who hopped to Chattanooga Friday morning for the night. A Lycoming Stinson Junior, home port Dunedin, Fla., was serviced here on a flight from Florida to Detroit. B. C. Shiner was doing the piloting. All these ships were serviced at the Curtiss-Wright hangar.

A Curtiss-Wright Juno, diminutive pusher-monoplane, Friday was ferried to Candler field for the night. It is a single-engine, high-winged, two-seater, and has found a permanent home in the Curtiss-Wright hangar here. The Atlanta base will use the Juno, which seats two persons in tandem, which is powered with a three-cylinder, 30-horsepower Siskely, RR-3, for demonstration purposes, and has an arrangement whereby passengers are given flight training without additional cost.

Mail planes at the present time fly more than 77,000 miles each day over United States routes, the April issue of the Official Aviation Guide shows. This daily mileage runs into approximately 2,310,000 miles per month and 27,720,000 per year. This extensive operation, it seems, is highly profitable with an amazingly small percentage of accidents to pilots and planes. Contrasted with the larger percentage of accidents recorded in the United States, the gratifying record of the mail planes can be credited logically to the strict compliance of the operating companies with the rigid and regulations of the department of commerce.

Similarly gratifying records in the operation of passenger plane service in the United States can be ascribed to the same guiding influence. The operation of passenger planes alike follow in the main the well-marked airways laid out by the department of commerce. Pilots and planes of these branches of aviation are scheduled to rigid and regular examination and inspection and are guided in their flights by radio communications from land stations located along their routes.

Land stations receive weather reports continuously from co-operating weather observatories strategically located on the airways and this vital information is relayed to the pilots in the air. Thus regulation has achieved its purpose on aviation: the reduction of accidents to a minimum. Some day it may be the same for other transport systems.

ALABAMA LEGISLATURE TAKES A VACATION

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 17.—(AP)—The Alabama legislature today recessed for two weeks to permit a fiscal commission of 33 to study the financial condition of the state, and to write revenue and appropriation bills.

The commission is confronted with devising a plan of liquidating the deficit, estimated at $13,000,000, in addition to providing revenue for four years and writing appropriations to cover the state's activities during that time.

Recess committees to investigate utility rates, disbursements or educational equalization funds and to study revision of the state's highway code were authorized today.

Bills to reduce the legal rate of interest from 8 per cent to 7 per cent, increasing campaign expenditures for United States senators and governors to $25,000 and making corresponding increases for other elective state and district candidates, and new amendments to permit inheritance and income taxes were introduced in the house.

PHONE CONNECTS CHILE AND MADRID

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 17.—(AP)—Direct radio-telephone-transatlantic service between Santiago and Madrid was inaugurated today. President Ibanez and members of his cabinet participated in the ceremony during which representatives of the government here talked with the Chilean embassy in Madrid.

In the first business call Harold P. Braman, chief of the Associated Press bureau here, called on Clarence Dubose, chief of the Madrid bureau. The call was put through after official ceremonies through the courtesy of John T. Quinn, general manager of Compania Chilena de Telefonos, which is the national telephone concern here, affiliated with the International Telephone & Telegraph Company.

In the conversation Dubose described the transfer from a monarchy to a republic in Spain, saying it was accompanied with great efficiency. He added that all Spain was quiet.

LAD OF 6 BLAMED FOR WRECKING TRAIN

DREXEL, N. C., April 17.—(AP)—Blame for wrecking Southern passenger train No. 21 here this afternoon, with injuries to four men, was placed on a 6-year-old boy tonight by A. G. J. Kins, special agent, who made an investigation for the railroad.

Jenkins said the boy, Charles Whitener, who lives near the edge of this village, where the train left the rails on a curve, said the boy readily admitted placing rocks on the track.

"Yes, I wanted to wreck the train, and I didn't care if some people were killed," the boy was quoted as saying.

CHESTERTON FINDS ARGUMENT IN U. S.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—G. K. Chesterton, noted essayist, loves an argument, and for that reason is sorry he is sailing home to England.

Boarding the liner Majestic today, he said:

"In our country there is agitation about this question and this issue is stimulating. In England, it has become dull. There is too much apathy. No one seems to care about arguing any more."

BERMAN TO OFFER AIRPORT MEASURE

Resolution Will Enable Private Interests To Erect Administration Building.

Declaring that the lack of an administration building at Candler field may react to jeopardize Atlanta's position as the air hub of the south, Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman of the aviation committee, announced Friday that he will offer a measure in council Monday to enable private interests to erect a building with a proviso that receipts from concession rights be diverted to the building level. The work will get under way early in the summer.

FIVE FACE TRIAL IN SWINDLE SCHEME

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Five men charged with defrauding residents of Tennessee, Texas and Alabama of approximately $1,000,000 by selling certificates in building and loan associations were ordered removed today to Chattanooga for trial.

The men, Bernard Lavin, Jack Adair, David J. Hyman, Kastor Dixon and Norm T. Dixon, face prosecution in the indictment against them for defraud. All except Dixon furnished bail and were ordered to appear in United States district court in Chattanooga, April 27, at 10 a.m. Dixon is held in the house of detention awaiting removal.

Assistant United States Attorney Harold Felix said the men and others named in the indictment sold certificates in building and loan associations for small down payments, giving the impression to buyers they were purchasing dividend-bearing stock. He said dividends were paid out of receipts.

Mrs. L. S. Trew, Lima Landing, Texas, and Mrs. Frances Boyd, Belpre, Ala., two of those who bought certificates, appeared before United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neil ordered the defendants removed for trial.

CANADIAN TRADE DROPS SHARPLY

OTTAWA, Ont., April 17.—(AP)—Canadian total exports and imports for the fiscal year which ended March 31 amounted to $1,723,800,496, a decrease of $660,377,080 over the previous year, the department of national revenue announced today.

Of the total, imports accounted for $906,807,285, while exports, both foreign and domestic, had a value of $816,993,211. Total imports during the previous fiscal year were $1,248,239,516 and exports amounted to $1,144,938,070.

A decrease of $81,157,058 in revenue from customs and excise duties and taxes was announced by the department of national revenue.

The income tax revenue, on the other hand, showed an increase of $2,027,270, thus producing a net decrease in revenue of $79,130,386 for the year.

CAROL TO GET CABINET TODAY

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 17.—(AP)—Nicholas Titulescu has formed a new cabinet of "experts" and neutrals which will be sworn in tomorrow, it was officially announced tonight. Titulescu will hold the interior portfolio.

Other ministers in the cabinet will be Jorga, public instruction; Tabakov, finance; and Gheorghiu, agriculture.

Juliu Maniu tonight promised King Carol that parliament would support the new neutral government. Titulescu, who was Rumanian minister to London, was called home to form a cabinet after the resignation of the government of George Mironescu.

New Stage, Screen Programs At Atlanta Theaters Today

The new programs opening in Atlanta theaters today include:

CAPITOL—"The Last Parade." Story of Racketeers, starring Jack Holt with Constance Cummings and Tom Moore heading the supporting cast. On the stage, A. B. Marcus Company presents a revue, "Futuristic Babies."

FOX—"Doctors' Wives," clever story of the jealousy of a young doctor's wife for his women patients. Joan Bennett and Warner Baxter head the cast. On the stage, Fanchon & Marco offer an "idea" of original flavor called "Enchantment."

GEORGIA—"My Past," sensational story of the love of an adventurous woman, portrayed by a cast including Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon and Lewis Stone. The RKO vaudeville program boasts two headliners, Rita Burgess Gould and Britt Wood.

RIALTO—"Part-Time Wife," a comedy romance of young married moderns.

FOX HAS CLEVER STORY IN "DOCTORS' WIVES"

The story of "Doctors' Wives" presented at the Fox theater this month, attempts to answer a question that many wives have asked, at least in their own hearts. It is whether the meetings between a man and his feminine patients or clients, in the privacy of office consultations, are a purely strictly business or professional matters?

In the story Joan Bennett, young wife of a doctor, Warner Baxter, lets her jealousy of his women patients lead her into dangerous circumstances, in revenge. There is a dramatic finale with the wife's eyes opened, at the last, to the tremendous spirit of sacrifice that animates every doctor really worthy of his profession.

On the stage the Fanchon & Marco idea is "Enchantment," boasting a number of the greatest original performers and a group of prize-winning Sunkist Beauties. Enrico Leide with the orchestra, Al Evans at the organ and clever short subjects complete another splendid Fox program.

FEATURE AT GEORGIA SENSATIONALLY FRANK

"My Past," the new picture at the Georgia theater, is one of the most daring romances ever put upon the screen. The picture is a story of the successful anonymous novel, "Ex-Mistress," with Bebe Daniels playing the role of the woman who finds happiness in error, including more than one lover. Ben Lyon, in private life, is Miss Daniels' husband, plays opposite her. The two give some of the most realistic and passionate love scenes the screen has yet produced. Lewis Stone is the third figure in the triangle and plays with his usual polished art. It is a picture that will delight everyone with its sophistication and frank dealing with an essentially modern viewpoint on an old problem.

Mrs. George DuBois And Mrs. E. Brown To Visit Here Drama Workshop Presents Play Tuesday, April 28

Of cordial interest to members of Atlanta society is the arrival this morning of Mrs. George DuBois, of Washington, D. C., who will be the guest of Mrs. John S. Baldwin at her home, 45 Thirteenth street. Mrs. DuBois possesses a wide circle of friends in the city and she will be the inspiration for numerous social courtesies during her visit. Before her marriage several years ago, Mrs. DuBois was Miss Frances Brown, a native of Canton, Ga., and a popular resident of Atlanta for a number of years. In addition to numerous friends, she possesses a wide circle of relatives in the city who will be interested in her arrival. She holds an enviable position in social circles of the national capital.

The Drama Workshop will present Adele Anderson in the role of "Lisa," second wife of "Steve Watson," as played by Mark Temple, in the "Pattern" Tuesday evening, April 28, at 8:30 o'clock at the Woman's Club. Both Miss Anderson and Mr. Temple are newcomers to the workshop. Miss Anderson acted in various plays while in Girls' High school and since her graduation has taken part in several plays sponsored by the Advertising Club. Mr. Temple has acted with many amateur companies. "The Pattern," a three-act play by Martin Ramage, won second prize in the Agnes Scott Alumni contest in 1930. It will be directed by Ben Atchison, assisted by Catherine Hurst Crawley. The Workshop, in choosing "The Pattern" for its last bill of the season 1930-1931, is offering a well-written piece of realism. It deals with a problem very near the hearts of all Georgians—that of the farmer. The cast includes Adele Anderson, Mark Temple, Edith Walthall, Tom Ewing, S. Dobbs, Catherine Hurst Crawley, Lovejoy Harwell, Jane Wilks and Andria Gray.

Atlanta Woman's Club Plans New Financial Arrangements

The Atlanta Woman's Club is changing its financial arrangements and has made complete refinancing plans with the Volunteer State Life Insurance Company of Chattanooga. These plans will take effect June 15, 1931. In order to perfect these arrangements, all insurance policies owned by club members or friends, nine years ago, must be cancelled by the insured. The president, Mrs. Thornton M. Fincher, has been unable to locate the following names and would appreciate information concerning any of them. Please telephone Hemlock 5803 or Hemlock 4637 concerning these names: Misses Margaret Horton, Irene Caton, Sarah Ruth Miller, Martha B. Smith and Mrs. Margaret Freeman Turner.

The garden of raising money for "pilgrimage" to Chattanooga, Ga., Tuesday, April 21, to be the guests of Mrs. Robert Campbell, a former member of the division. Only members are invited and they are requested to communicate with Mrs. C. E. Faust before Monday morning, April 20, if transportation is desired. Mrs. Campbell is a noted gardener and floral authority. This is a very important meeting and the chairman desires a large attendance. The following members of the garden division were in attendance at the Garden Club of Georgia convention in Savannah the past week: Mesdames C. E. Faust, chairman, delegate; Robert J. Scott, delegate; Jesse M. Manly, James A. Greene, Thomas Pitts, G. H. Faust, W. A. Parker, Fred C. Rice, Thomas Harris, E. P. Crenshaw and O. H. Matthews.

Mrs. Arthur Hazard, chairman, and Miss Mary Cayce, co-chairman, of the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium, are sponsoring a card party on Tuesday, April 21, at 2:30 o'clock, at the clubhouse. This party is for the purpose of raising money to buy new stage curtains for the club auditorium. A number of prizes have been secured. All club members and their friends are invited. Single tickets are 50 cents, table $2. Tickets will be made up for any single tickets sold.

Egleston Auxiliary Announces Gardens Open for Tour

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Henrietta Egleston Hospital for Children conducts the second of the series of benefit garden tours this afternoon. The gardens belonging to the following will be shown: Mrs. W. P. Dorrough, 1300 Peachtree street; Mrs. Hunter Perry, 1719 Peachtree street; Mrs. Clyde King, 1386 Ponce de Leon; Mrs. Howard Anderson, 1010 Ponce de Leon; Mrs. Henry Heinz, 1010 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. McKenney requests that visitors come early in the afternoon to her garden which will be open from 2 to 5:30 o'clock as the tulips close as the sun goes down. The other gardens will be open from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

The scout car with garden posters to identify it will leave the West Peachtree street entrance of the Billmore hotel at 2:30 o'clock to pilot strangers not familiar with Atlanta localities to the various gardens. Other visitors are welcome at all gardens any time between 2:30 and 5:30.

Tickets can be bought at gates of the gardens as well as at Rich's, Hastings and the Carolina Shop at Tenth street. Owing to the great demand guest tickets can be bought at the gardens for guests of holders of season tickets. These tickets will admit guests to the five gardens shown Saturday only, and will cost 50 cents.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A PRITTY SLEEVELESS FROCK FOR A LITTLE MISS. 6561. Printed and plain silk is here combined. Soft fullness at the shoulders of the waist front, and scalloped outline are features of this attractive little model. The flounces are mounted on a straight two-piece foundation skirt. Taffeta and organdy are suggested and printed or plain chiffon are pleasing developments of this charming frock.

Designed in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It will require 3 3/8 yards of one material 36 inches wide or wider for an 8-year size. To make as illustrated in the large view will require 1 yard of plain material, and 2 3/8 yards of figured material. To finish with bias binding will require 4 1/2 yards of 1 1/2 inch wide. A sash of ribbon will require 2 1/2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps. Send 12 cents in silver or stamps for up-to-date Book of Fashion, Spring 1931.

"And I don't scrub or boil" says Polly

YES MA'AM! Your clothes will last much longer now. These creamy suds soak the dirt right out. Things don't need to be scrubbed there and there like before. And see how much whiter they look. Rinsol's one fine soap, ma'am!

Safe, lasting suds Never mind how hard the water is in your locality. Without bar soaps, chips, powders or softeners, Rinsol whips at once into thick, soapy suds. Twice as much, cup for cup, as those puffed-up soaps give. So economical!

And Rinsol is safe for the finest cottons and linens. The makers of 40 washing machines recommend it. Get the BIG package. No need to buy two kinds of soap—you'll like Rinsol's lively suds for dishes, too.

MILLIONS USE RINSOL in tub, washer and dishpan

Miss McAfee Weds Harry C. Speidel In California

Of cordial interest to a host of friends throughout the state is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Pearl McAfee, of Canton, Ga., to Harry Christian Speidel, of San Pedro, Cal., the wedding having been solemnized Wednesday, April 15, in Glendale, Cal.

Miss Speidel is the attractive young daughter of the late Captain J. M. McAfee and the late Mrs. McAfee, of Canton. She has been a popular figure in social circles of Georgia.

Mr. Speidel formerly resided in Seattle, Wash., and is a member of a well-known western family, occupying a position of prominence in Washington. He and his bride will be at home after May 1 at the Parnell apartments on Pacific avenue in San Pedro.

Miss Johnson To Entertain

Miss Frances Johnson will be hostess today at a luncheon party at the Tavern in honor of Mrs. John Massengale, of Columbus, Ga., who is spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bostwick, at their home on Hurt street. Covers will be placed for Mrs. Massengale, Miss Betty Johnson, Miss Marion Morgan, Miss Caroline Plowden, Mrs. Charles T. McGregor and Miss Johnson.

Mrs. Massengale was formerly Miss Margaret Bostwick of this city, where she has a wide circle of friends who are entertaining in her honor during her visit here. Miss Frances Johnson was a wedding which was a beautiful event of two years ago. A series of parties will be given in compliment to this popular visitor next week.

MRS. H. W. PEABODY SNUBS ANDERSON

BOSTON, April 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, tonight declined an invitation to attend a dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts tomorrow night at which Colonel Henry W. Anderson, of the Wickham commission, will be the principal speaker. Anderson advocates government-controlled sale of liquor.

Mrs. Peabody, who renounced her Massachusetts residence and moved to Florida last November after the state prohibition enforcement act was repealed, said in her letter to Judson Hanigman, president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, that she would not attend the dinner.

"It would be very interesting to hear Colonel Anderson attempt to harmonize his present statements with his signature to the Wickham commission report, which declares against the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, modification, government control, revision or the return of the saloon."

However, she pleaded her inability to attend.

Others who have refused to attend the dinner are former Governor Alvan T. Fuller and Frank G. Allen and Congressman Robert Luce, of Waltham.

MRS. EAVEY TO STAY FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Mrs. H. Earl Eavey, Bible teacher of Xenia, Ohio, who has been in the Kimball House under the auspices of the Southern Evangelical Association and a special women's committee, will stay for another week, it was announced Friday.

The Women's Bible class conducted by her will be held next week in the North Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school building on the corner of North avenue and Courtland streets.

Parlor meetings for the afternoons of the week have been arranged. The noon meetings will continue in the Kimball House.

TALKING IT OVER BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Here are 15 letters from girls who are asking how they may determine whether or not their "best beau" loves them. What is the matter, have they lost their cunning or have the boys traded their chivalry to the girls for that cunning they used to boast?

Here is the answer for 15 of them. While each problem may be a bit different from the other, like the law of gravity, the law of love always works the same way in every case.

If a girl has a little doubt about the love of her best beau, he probably loves her a little bit. If she has a consuming doubt, he probably doesn't love her at all. If she has no doubt, the chances are good that he does love her a great deal.

There are certain little hallmarks which love has and though they vary with the individual they are basically the same. We want to be with those we love. We want to assure them of our love, by word of mouth, by little gifts, by interest in what concerns them, by protection of them against dangers of heart and life, by excusing their mistakes and magnifying their good points, by applying playful epithets to them and by a change of voice when we call their names. Oh, there are so many ways to tell and if a girl has to search to find them they simply don't exist.

See the change of expression on a man's face when the woman he loves comes into sight. Hear the caressing tone of his voice when he calls her name. See the quickened interest in any subject that directly concerns her. Hear him boast of her cleverness, hear him refer to her beauty (often times non-existent, for love is blind, you remember), hear him speak of her popularity. Don't you see, girls, that love, the real thing, leaves no room for doubt in the minds of anyone toward whom it is directed? If a girl is contemplating marriage with one of these men whose love she doubts, she is cheating herself and has only herself to blame.

That is one of the most pathetic things about a woman: the way she likes to fool herself when she knows that in the end the truth will break her heart. And she knows, too, that the truth is inescapable. Yet she will go on and on saying to herself as she goes, "Peace, peace," and there is no peace. For a brief hour she will bask in the sunshine which is no sunshine at all but the harsh glare of an electric light. "It's the sun," she says. "I know it is the sun; it is warm and bright and light." Then someone turns off the switch, as she knew all along someone would, and she is in the dark. But she had her brief hour and for that she was willing to stultify herself. Maybe after all she was wiser than we thought.

Well, girls who are in doubt, if you have only a little doubt, perhaps you have a little love. If you have great doubts, you have no love, and if you have no doubt, you have great love. And, after all, I haven't helped you; I have only created more doubt. At least one must think if one has doubts, and thinking is good exercise for young minds.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Queen Marie of Rumania, in Paris, Pays Visit to Exiled Victoria

PARIS, April 17.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania was added today to the mounting list of royalty and nobility who are coming here to offer sympathy to the exiled king and queen of Spain.

Queen Marie arrived here this afternoon and made the third queen to be received by the French capital ordinarily welcomes in a month. She was accompanied by the Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia and Princess Ileana. They came from Brittany by train and went immediately to the royal suite at the Hotel Meurice where the queen was closeted for half an hour with the queen of Spain.

Queen Marie wore a black frock, a close-fitting hat and a black astrakhan cloak. Princess Ileana wore a brown wool ensemble with a fox collar and carried a huge bouquet of pink roses.

Before her departure for Germany this evening Queen Marie was greeted by General Lanson on behalf of President Doumergue, and by representatives of the Rumanian legation in Paris.

She paused smiling in the foyer of the hotel to allow herself to be photographed, and outside the great crowd which was growing accustomed to seeing queens, watched her departure with mild interest. A messenger boy remarked: "It's only another queen."

Throng continued to stand in line today to sign the visitors' register of the Spanish royalty. Among the signers today were former President Millerand of France and Monsignor Maglione, papal nuncio.

Bob Dalton, Once Famous Bandit, Comes to Atlanta-On Business

Bob Dalton is in Atlanta! That bit of information "35 years ago would have caused a near-panic as terror-stricken inhabitants sought their storm cellars and members of the sheriff's forces oiled up their guns. But Bob Dalton, now Colonel R. E. Dalton, if you please, is here on a mission of peace. He comes to Atlanta on business.

The one-time member of the notorious Dalton gang, relatives of the Youngers and the James boys, is now a quiet and rather portly gray-haired gentleman. The man who was taught his three R's by O. Henry while the ex-bandit was serving a 10-year prison sentence and who later studied law under Al Jennings, one of the most famous outlaws in American crime history, is now a developer.

"I am living a quiet life," he said at his hotel Friday night, "and I hoped that you newspaper boys would find out I was in town. I was in town, I forgot the past and want to live it down. I am now a respectable citizen and making an honest way in the world."

Dalton came here from Mississippi, where he opened a gas and oil field near Jackson. He is armed with letters of recommendation from Governor Long, of Louisiana, and several hundred other leading citizens. He confided that his business here is to prove a theory that he has held for many years—that there is a natural gas and oil field within a radius of 50 miles of Atlanta.

Miss Clark Weds Dr. Northington In LaGrange, Ga.

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 17.—The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Clark to Dr. James Northington was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clark, on Park avenue, Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter Pope, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of the immediate family and close friends. An improvised altar was erected in the living room and banked with palms, ferns, and candelabras holding white tapers.

Prior to the ceremony a program of musical music was rendered by Miss Beva McMillin, Miss Clara Vaughn and Miss Wallace Clark. The bridesmaids were Misses Betty Ann Brooks and Georgia Clark. Miss Lillian Clark, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She was wearing an aquamarine chignon with a hat of beige horse hair. Her flowers were roses and valley lilies.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Neal Clark, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, A. L. Taylor, of Roanoke Rapids, N. C. She wore a gown of rose beige chiffon and her hat repeated the color note of rose. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

The parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clark, entertained at an informal reception. Mrs. Hardy Brooks, Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mrs. Fred Brooks, Miss Carrie Clark, Miss Catherine Cumbee, Sara Clark, Jean Clark, Lillian Clark and Miss Keaton Taylor assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Dr. and Mrs. Northington left for their wedding trip to New York and Washington. They will return by boat to Virginia, where they will visit the bridegroom's relatives. They will make their home in Charlotte, N. C.

Teachers' Poetry-Reading Contest Won by Alabama College Student

Miss Margaret Wallis, representing Alabama College, was awarded first place in the poetry-reading contest held under the auspices of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech at Agnes Scott College Friday night.

Miss Wallis recited three poems: "Moonlight," by Fannie Stearns Deane; "Lavender," by Archibald, "One, Two, Three," by H. C. Bunner.

Second place in the contest was awarded to Miss Edith Hambrick, of Norman Park (Ga.) High school, the only high school representative in the contest, who recited "The Highwayman," by Alfred Noyes. Third place was awarded to Miss Dorothy Abel, of Averett College, who recited "River of Stars," also by Noyes. First prize was a copy of Monroe & Henderson, "Anthology of Verse," donated by Macmillan Company, publishers.

Other contestants were Miss Martha Skeen, of Agnes Scott; Miss Susan Ritchie, of Clark College; Miss Ermin Palmer, of Norman Park College; Miss Jean Moses, of Brenau; Miss Frances Rhoades, of Asheville Teachers' College; Maurice Dreier, of Rollins College; Miss Anne Kell, of Mississippi State College for Women; Ed Harrell, of Wake Forest College; Leonard Tech, of the Teachers College at Athens.

Judges in the contest were Dr. Wightman F. Melton, of Atlanta; Miss Laura Piles of Atlanta, N. C.; Lyman Judson, of Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Mrs. Herbert S. Alden and Miss Agnes Kendrick Gray, both of Atlanta.

Winners of the extemporaneous speakers' contest were: First place, M. B. Amos, North Carolina State; second place, Charles Brooks, Texas Teachers College, and third place, Walter Brown, Jr., Birmingham Southern. Other contestants were Douglas Brown, of Alabama Tech.; E. L. Smith, Wake Forest; Mabry Candler, Asheville Normal; Ruth Wilder, Norman Junior College; Lloyd Towle, Rollins College, and Milton Richardson, University of Georgia. First prize was a piece of silver offered by Latham & Atkinson, Atlanta jewelers.

Reports of officers and extemporaneous talks on the need for greater consideration in the teaching of elocution featured Friday's sessions of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, holding its second annual convention at the Henry Grady hotel. The association, organized 16 months ago at Birmingham, Ala., has as its objective standardization of speech in America.

In his annual address, Edwin Paget, of the North Carolina State College, urged all members to aim at wider general membership and more activity during the ensuing year. Paget outlined the record of the organization since its foundation in 1924, when two young men, and asserted that only by assiduous efforts on the part of its officers and members can the association hope to expand and render valuable service.

Many Applications. T. Earle Johnson, of the University of Alabama, executive secretary-treasurer, reported that during the year just past he had received 21 applications for membership in the association. The cash balance of the organization was reported at $84.

English and instructors in speech were the plea made by Miss Rose B. Johnson, of the Woodlawn High school, Birmingham, Ala., who presided over the session. She urged the members to caution members against a summation of the attitude of superiority toward English teachers.

"While teachers of English are requiring the burden of speech instruction at present," Miss Johnson said, "it is too much to expect them to specialize efficiently in the very best of the subject of making ourselves better understood. Every school child from kindergarten to college, should be given consistent training in conversational speaking as well as oratory, debating and poetry reading."

Miss Frances K. Gooch, of Agnes Scott College, third vice president, reported that several southern states during the last year had evinced little or no interest in the efforts of the association to bring all states into the organization. She urged the members of the organization, particularly in the south, to make their efforts toward stimulating interest in pathetic states.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning a general session of the organization will be held, with Edwin H. Paget presiding, followed by reports of committee and state associations. An open forum will also feature the morning session followed by group luncheons, with groups arranged according to states. At 6 o'clock tonight the association dinner will be held in the main hall of the hotel, with election of officers scheduled for later in the evening. Oratory and debate finals and a meeting of the executive committee will bring the convention to a close.

I.T. & T. Head May Find Self in Jam With President Zamora of Spain

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.
(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Colonel Sosthenes Behn, head of the International Telephone & Telegraph Company, may find himself in the glare of a scolding batch of fire-works if Provisional President Zamora carries out his threat to pry the lid off that company's activities in purchasing the Spanish Telephone monopoly from the old regime.

Colonel Behn went to Spain in 1923 to fight for the telephone monopoly, when Primo De Rivera announced that the royal government wished to turn the system over to private interests. In the teeth of fierce competition from the Swedish Ericsson Company and the German Siemens & Halske organization, he succeeded. Details of the deal, however, have never been made public.

But before he was through, Mr. Behn had to buy the International Western Electric from the A. T. & T. Company for $30,000,000 in order to comply with the Spanish government's insistence that all equipment be made in Spain and in factories employing Spanish workers. Previously he had asked the A. T. & T. Company to put up a plant in Spain, but the company had refused.

President Zamora at the time opposed this selling of a publicly-owned utility to private foreign interests and naturally "no question now is what will be about it."

The provisional president is known for his vigorous thinking and hard hitting. Mr. Behn has won an international reputation through his dynamic and dramatic style and spectacular exploits, although he has already passed the 50-year mark. United States, Spain and the world may be in for revelations.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM,
Editor, The News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(NANA) Rumors of an over-extended situation in Chicago, investment trust selling and additional professional bear offerings sent the general market down today to new levels for this movement. In some instances the low prices recorded were under the lowest figures registered in the big break that culminated in December of last year.

Some stocks like General Electric and American Can showed resistance to further selling. Inside buying was also reported in a number of direct

A break of 35 points in Auburn was one of the spectacles witnessed during the hectic session. This makes a total decline of about 60 points from the high price recorded early in the week. Those who have been prominent in the market for Auburn said that this break did not mean a collapse of the stock. Rumors were current early in the day that trading had been suspended in the shares, but this was propaganda put out by the bear traders who began selling the stock in a liberal volume during the forenoon.

Insiders of the Auburn Auto stood aside when the selling broke today in a desire to encourage another large short interest so that it could be used as the basis for another sharp upward movement such as occurred in recent months. The Auburn Auto continues to do an excellent business and earnings for the current second quarter are expected to make a surprisingly good showing.

COUNTRY BANKS SELLING.

Country banks were reported as substantially sellers of stocks. This selling represented the closing out of "frozen" loans which have been carried for months with stocks as collateral. Banks are desirous of keeping themselves very liquid and the steady recent decline in stock prices has precipitated their desire to clean out "frozen" loans.
